Acquisition Information
The Emma (Moffat) McLaughlin Papers were given to The Bancroft Library in 1968 by her daughter, Jean Doolittle.
Scope and Content
Emma Elisabeth (Moffat) McLaughlin was born in San Francisco on September 21, 1880, the daughter of Adrianna Swett and Henry Moffat, who had come to California in 1857 and established a wholesale meat-packing business. Educated in public schools and later at Miss West's School, she entered the University of California at Berkeley with the Class of 1902.
In 1904 she married Dr. Alfred McLaughlin, a physician whose large practice included the Italian colony in the Mission district of San Francisco. Through her husband's pioneer efforts to provide quality medical care for low-income, immigrant families, Mrs. McLaughlin became increasingly aware of the great need for adequate health education. Following his death in 1908, she began working with the Certified Milk and Baby Hygiene Committee of the American Association of University Women, which operated well-baby clinics that diagnosed illnesses and other problems and advised parents about proper health care. From 1917 to 1919 she was chairman of its San Francisco Children's Year Committee which examined more than ten thousand babies during its initial campaign. These activities were carried out in cooperation with the San Francisco Chapter of the League of Women Voters, an organization Mrs. McLaughlin had joined shortly after it was formed and for which she served as president for the year 1920-21. During this period she was a member of the committee which established the San Francisco Community Chest. Evidence of her continuing interest in improving the quality of community health and of her strong influence upon the Chest can be seen in one of its first projects, a survey of the city's health needs.
Another of Emma McLaughlin's many interests was world affairs. She was an active member of the Institute of Pacific Relations, an unofficial international organization for the study of the peoples of the Pacific, from its organization in 1927. Twenty years later she helped to reorganize its San Francisco council into the World Affairs Council of Northern California. Mrs. McLaughlin attended the international conferences of the Institute held in Honolulu, Kyoto, Banff, and Yosemite. She participated actively in the Institute's study groups, attended most lectures, secured volunteers for projects and opened her home for formal dinner parties to honor visiting dignitaries. In recognition of her community service McLaughlin was honored with honorary degrees from both the University of California, Berkeley and Mills College.
The Emma (Moffat) McLaughlin papers relate to her active and long-term work with many civic organizations, including the Baby Hygiene Committee, American Association of University Women, San Francisco Community Chest, Women's Central Committee and Women's Board of the Golden Gate International Exhibition, League of Women Voters, San Francisco Foundation, Institute of Pacific Relations, and the World Affairs Council of Northern California.
