Acquisition Information

The Henry J. Kaiser Papers were given to The Bancroft Library by Kaiser Foundation Health Plan, Inc. in 1983, with additions in 1985 and 1986.

Processing Information

Processed by Regan Bresnahan, Project Archivist. Additions processed by Lauren Lassleben and Rosemary Evetts; finding aid completed by Mary Morganti, with assistance from Robin Tremblay-McGaw, Elizabeth Stephens, and others.

- 1882 Henry John Kaiser born in Sprout Brook (near Canajoharie), New York, on May 9, son of Francis J. and Mary Yops Kaiser, German immigrants.
- 1895 Left school at age 13, to help support his parents and three sisters, by working in a dry goods store in Utica, New York.
- ca. 1903-1906 Became a salesman and partner in a photographic business in Lake Placid, New York; bought out his partner, and opened stores in Daytona Beach and Miami, Florida, and Nassau.
- 1906 Moved to Spokane, Washington, and worked as a hardware and sand and gravel salesman.
- 1907 Married Bessie Fosburgh on April 8 in Boston.
- 1912 Began a road paving business in Washington and British Columbia. The Henry J. Kaiser Company, Ltd. established in Vancouver, B.C., in 1914.
- 1921 Won his first California paving contract, between Redding and Red Bluff, and established headquarters in Oakland.
- 1923 Started sand and gravel quarry at Radum (near Livermore), to supply the Livermore-Pleasanton paving job. This was the beginning of Kaiser Sand and Gravel Company.
- 1927 Worked on a 200 -mile, 500 -bridge highway in Cuba.
- 1929 Formed a consortium called Six Companies, Inc., with Henry J. Kaiser as chairman of the executive committee, to build Hoover (Boulder) Dam on the Colorado River. Also collaborated on the building of Bonneville, Grand Coulee, and Shasta Dams, natural gas pipelines in the Southwest, Mississippi River levees, and the San Francisco -Oakland Bay Bridge underwater foundations.
- 1939 Built the Permanente Cement plant near Los Altos, California, in seven months, to provide cement and aggregates for the construction of Shasta Dam.
- 1940-1945 During World War II, coordinated production of liberty ships, "baby flat top" aircraft carriers, aircraft, cement, steel, magnesium for bombs and artillery shells, as well as laying the ground work for post war production of housing, cars and consumer goods.
- 1942 Granted loan by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to build a steel plant at Fontana, California, the first in the western United States. Broke ground in April, and the first blast furnace was blown in on December 30, 1942.
- 1944 Considered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as his fourth-term vice presidential running mate. Chairman of the Non-Partisan Association for Franchise Education, to promote voting.
- 1945 Kaiser-Frazier Corporation incorporated in Nevada, and produced 750,000 automobiles in its ten years of production.
- 1945-1946 Served as national chairman of the Victory Clothing Collection, the Civilian Production Administration Emergency Food Collection, and the United States Relief Administration.
- 1946 Began making aluminum at five rented plants, and showed a profit of $5.3 million in less than one year.
- 1951 Bessie Fosburgh Kaiser died in Oakland. A month later, on April 10, Henry J. Kaiser married Alyce Chester in Santa Barbara.
- 1955 Turned over day to day operation of Kaiser Industries Corporation to son Edgar F. Kaiser, and moved to Hawaii. There he developed the Hawaiian Village Hotel, and a $350 million real estate development and resort called Hawaii Kai.
- 1958 Opened Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Honolulu.
- 1961 Henry J. Kaiser, Jr. died in Oakland.
- Awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by University of California, Berkeley.
- 1963 Received the International Broadcast Free Enterprise Award.
- 1965 Given the AFL-CIO Murray Green Humanitarian Award, "in recognition of notable accomplishments in voluntary medical care, housing and labor-management relations."
- 1967 Died on August 24 in Honolulu. By the time of his death at age 85, Henry J. Kaiser had founded more than 100 companies, which operated 180 major plants in 32 states and 40 foreign countries, employing 90,000 people and making 300 products and services, with assets of $2.5 billion.

Scope and Content

The Henry J. Kaiser Papers reflect the multi-faceted career of an American businessman, builder, popular folk hero, and self-made millionaire, who dropped out of school in the eighth grade to help support his family. According to historian Gerald D. Nash, "more than any other individual person, industrialist Henry J. Kaiser was responsible for the wartime industrial boom in the West." Gerald B. Nash, The American West in the Twentieth Century: a Short History of a Cultural Oasis, (Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey, 1973), p. 205.

The bulk of the collection dates from after World War II, by which time the affiliated Kaiser companies were producing an amazing array of building materials, including steel, cement, aluminum, and gypsum; beginning engineering projects all over the world; and, building affordable housing and consumer goods, such as Kaiser-Frazer cars, Willys Jeeps, and even dishwashers. Henry J. Kaiser's papers were not systematically retained until after the war, when he hired newspaperman Robert C. Elliott as his executive assistant. The collection contains papers dating from 1873 to 1982, consisting of both personal papers and corporate records, and including correspondence, memoranda, reports, general office files, advertisements, and financial records, as well as transcripts of speeches and radio talks, articles, honoraria, and obituaries, among other personal papers. Oversize materials include architectural drawings, primarily of Kaiser's housing and resort development in Hawaii, engineering plans and sketches for various other Kaiser projects, including airplanes and boats, newsclippings, and scrapbooks.

The collection was processed over a number of years, by a handful of individuals working in several locations; therefore, some duplication may continue to exist within the files. In 1991, extensive editing and reworking of the in-process finding aid was undertaken and an attempt made to rectify inaccuracies and errors, both in the random packing of the cartons and in the container listing, which did not include any of the oversize materials. As part of that project, numerous printed materials were removed to the book collection, for separate cataloging, resulting in the elimination of a number of cartons as the collection was repacked and condensed.

Among the most interesting series are two which document the myriad projects in which Henry J. Kaiser was continually engaged. Series 1: Early Miscellaneous Material, 1924-1952, contains many of the records relating to early paving operations, where Kaiser got his start in the construction business, and joint venture projects, such as pipeline, bridge, jetty, and dam construction projects in the West. Series 5: Projects File, 1940-1945, demonstrates the range of activities which the Kaiser personnel undertook in wartime, in addition to their West Coast steel-making and ship-building operations. Always one to foresee consumer demand, even during the press of manufacturing steel, ships, planes, and magnesium, Kaiser was also experimenting with automobiles, dishwashers, and low-cost housing. The records in these two series, particularly, are supplemented by the materials found in the two additions to the Henry J. Kaiser Papers (Series 16 & 17). The collection is rich in potential research topics. Henry J. Kaiser was a key figure in the industrialization of the West: he was the first to manufacture steel on the West Coast (at Fontana, California, where the first blast furnace was named for his wife, Bess). He was a major force in building the Hawaiian economy, overseeing the development of a resort hotel complex and the master-planned community, Hawaii-Kai. It is as a visionary dreamer and doer, one particularly proud of Kaiser Permanente Foundation's extensive pre-paid health maintenance organization, that Henry J. Kaiser wished to be remembered.

Series 1. Oakland Office: Early Miscellaneous Material, 1924-1952..

Physical Description: Cartons 1-3; Carton 4, folders 1-24.

Arrangement

Arranged alphabetically within subseries.

Scope and Content Note

Divided into three subseries: Contracts and Agreements, Financial Material, and Projects. These files, along with a few folders in the Historical Library Subject Files (Series 15) and in the Additions to the Henry J. Kaiser Papers (Series 16 & 17), contain the only material which relates to Kaiser's early paving operations and larger joint construction ventures. During this period, Kaiser Paving Company and Henry J. Kaiser Company worked with the Warren Brothers, Bechtel, and Morrison companies, both separately and in joint concerns with Columbia Construction Company, Consolidated Builders, Inc., Industrial Engineering Company, and the Six Companies of California, building tunnels, jetties, pipe lines, bridges, and dams. This series lacks information about the Cuban roadbuilding operation and the major dams but does include some material on early quarries and gravel operations, the Oakland Bay Bridge (1933-1936), Coos Bay and Gray's Harbor Jetties (1938-1939), New York Tunnels (1938), Ruby Dam (1937-1939), and Shasta Dam Aggregates (1938-1940).

Series 2. Oakland Office: Yearly General Files, 1940-1964..

Physical Description: Carton 4, folders 25-38; Cartons 5-115; Carton 116, folders 1-44.

Arrangement

Arranged in yearly subseries, and then alphabetically.

Scope and Content Note

Contains files from Henry J. Kaiser's office at the central headquarters of the growing Kaiser operations, including inter-office memos, incoming and carbons of outgoing correspondence and telegrams, reports, reference material, clippings, publications, and advertisements.

Although Kaiser had established his headquarters in Oakland as early as 1921, it is only with diversification, beginning with the shipbuilding concerns, that the office files were systematically saved. These general files reflect overall involvements and concerns, but do not contain detailed information about specific operations, in part because Kaiser conducted much of his business over the telephone, leaving few written records of arrangements and negotiations. From 1945-1957, the general files served as Kaiser's permanent or central files and thus, contain the bulk of his correspondence and business records. Activities during the years, 1943-1949, may be augmented by the New York Office: General Files (Series 8).

In November 1947, newspaper writer, Robert Elliott, became Kaiser's Executive Assistant; in 1949, he assumed responsibility for the Oakland files, which then began to contain more reference and speech materials. When Kaiser moved to Hawaii in 1954, the focus of his operations shifted from Oakland to the Hawaiian Office. Elliott joined Kaiser in Hawaii in 1957 and the character of the Oakland files changed again. While the general filing system and format remained fairly constant throughout the entire 24 years, the character and specifics of filing often varied from year to year. For instance, material relating to health care plans might be filed under Health, Health Insurance, Hospitals, The Permanente Foundation, or the Kaiser Foundation Hospitals, or by the names of specific hospitals and clinics.

Series 4. Oakland Office: Financial Reports, 1938-1953..*Physical Description: Carton 120, folders 15-25; Carton 121.Scope and Content Note

The records in this series are spotty and incomplete, consisting largely of account ledger sheets, legal correspondence, and memos relating to the 1951 merger and reorganization of the Henry J. Kaiser Company and Kaiser Industries Inc., and their various subsidiaries. The Henry J. Kaiser Company was a privately-financed family company with divisions of Sand, Gravel, Construction, Real Estate, and Henry J. Kaiser Motors. Kaiser Industries Inc., an operating company owned by key Kaiser executives, Henry J. Kaiser, and Henry J. Kaiser Company, consisted of the operating divisions of Kaiser Engineers, Kaiser Gypsum, and Construction. The Henry J. Kaiser Company and Kaiser Industries Inc. invested jointly in most of the other Kaiser concerns. After the merger, Kaiser Industries Inc. was dissolved, although it reappeared in 1956 as an umbrella organization in the refinancing arrangement following the failure of the automobile venture. The Henry J. Kaiser Company that resulted from the merger had four operating divisions: Sand and Gravel, Kaiser Engineers, Henry J. Kaiser Motors, and Real Estate.

Series 5. Oakland Office: Projects File, 1940-1946..

Physical Description: Cartons 122-137; Carton 138, folders 1-7.

Arrangement

Arranged topically.

Scope and Content Note

Contains part of the Oakland central operations office files, which relate to some of the concerns explored by the Kaiser companies during the war, including several which later became major businesses in the Kaiser empire. These were kept by E.E. Trefethen, Jr., vice-president of the Henry J. Kaiser Company, H.V. Lindbergh, Henry J. Kaiser's executive assistant, and G.G. Sherwood and Don Browne, both treasurers. While not complete, they illustrate some of the diverse areas that the Kaiser companies were exploring while conducting the war work of shipbuilding operations. Included are financial, legal, and other records of operations, including memos, reports, and correspondence, as well as reference material, clippings, and hearings testimony relating to automobiles, the California Die Casting Corporation, cement, Fleetwings, hospitals, Kaiser-Hughes Cargo Plane, and steel. Files for the magnesium operations, which are the most extensive, include information on the production of materials used in bombs.

Series 6. Oakland Office: South American Reference Files, 1950-1957..*Physical Description: Carton 138, folders 8-21; Cartons 139-141.Scope and Content Note

Compiled by Robert Elliott, Henry J. Kaiser's executive assistant for his trip to South America in August 1954, the files in this series contain reference materials, reports, market studies, and correspondence relating to South America. It had become clear in that year that the automobile operations would not survive and Kaiser needed to recoup some of his losses. On the advice and with the help of friends, de Lesseps Morrison and Mario Bermudez of New Orleans, Kaiser traveled to Latin America to investigate the possible sale of equipment and machines, as part of the development of an automobile industry there.

Series 8. New York Office: General Files, 1943 -1951..

Physical Description: Carton 147, folders 25-27; Cartons 148-162.

Arrangement

Divided chronologically into three subseries, and then arranged alphabetically.

Scope and Content Note

Consists of files on subjects and individuals, along with other miscellaneous materials, this series covers the decade during which the Kaiser Company's office in New York City handled a share of the work of all the Kaiser concerns. This was especially true during the war, when Kaiser expanded its operations on the East Coast and managed Fleetwings, Inc., in Pennsylvania and Brewster Aeronautical Corporation in New York. Henry J. Kaiser travelled back and forth across the country frequently, cumulatively spending several months living in New York and commuting to Washington, D.C. After the war, only the active files were kept in the New York Office; the permanent files were sent to the Oakland Office.

Series 9. New York Office: Non-Partisan Association for Franchise Education, 1944..

Physical Description: Carton 163; Carton 164, folders 1-46.

Scope and Content Note

Consists of the office files of the New York City headquarters for the Non-Partisan Association for Franchise Education, for which Henry J. Kaiser served as chairman during the 1944 election year. Randolph Feltus, a former New Orleans public relations counselor, served as executive director. Includes correspondence, speeches, and promotional and reference material for the organization, which was "established to educate and stimulate the American people in the responsibility and duty of exercising the voting franchise." Much of their work was persuading other groups, from radio stations to department stores, to become active in getting out the vote.

Series 10. Hawaiian Office: General Files, 1955-1968..

Physical Description: Carton 164, folders 47-49; Cartons 165-238; Carton 239, folders 1-12.

Scope and Content Note

This series of general office files from the Kaiser concerns in Hawaii are organized by subject and include correspondence, inter-office memos, studies, reports, invitations, daily construction reports, publicity, and reference materials. There are no miscellaneous alphabetical files such as found in other series; these were kept separately (in Series 11).

Henry J. Kaiser first began to explore possibilities for development in Hawaii in 1954, when he bought a house in the Islands. Within a year he was spending much of his time there, and so established working or active files. His executive assistant, Robert Elliott, joined him three years later and the Hawaiian Office files became Kaiser's major files, even though much of the correspondence addressed to him was immediately routed to other offices for handling. For example, inquiries regarding inventions or patents were referred to the Oakland office.

Although Kaiser "retired" to the position of Founder Chairman of the Kaiser Enterprises in 1959, leaving management in the hands of Edgar Kaiser and E.E. Trefethen, Jr., he remained vitally concerned with the activities of the companies. While in Hawaii, Kaiser's projects included the building and management of the Hawaiian Village Hotel, sold to Hilton in 1961; the Kaiser Foundation Medical Center in Honolulu; a cement plant in Waianai; a radio and television broadcasting station; and the residential development of Hawaii-Kai. Henry J. Kaiser also served as a booster for development and tourism in Hawaii.

The broad subject headings found in these files are interdependent and contain material which both overlaps and augments other categories. While there is a heading for Hawaii-Kai Development Corporation, other material relating to that company is filed separately. Although Kaiser Burns Development Corporation built the Hawaiian Village Hotel, related material can be found under both headings, and material about Hawaiian Village Records is filed also under Kaiser Burns. In addition, while many individuals have their own subject files, information related to them can sometimes be found in other subject files. For example, some of Gilbert Olson's files (1960-1961) are filed under Hawaii-Kai Development Corporation; Lambreth Hancock's can also be found under Kaiser Broadcasting Corporation (1957-1958) and Kaiser Burns Development Corporation (1958-1960); Coleman Johnson's (1958-1961), C.D. MacMillan's (1960) and Harry Von Byerle's (1956-1959) are all within Kaiser Burns Development Corporation files.

Series 15. Historical Library Subject Files, 1914-1982..

Physical Description: Cartons 265-296.

Scope and Content Note

Organized under broad subject headings, the files in this series represent some of the varied areas in which the Kaiser companies were involved throughout the years, including: Aluminum, Airplanes, Cement, Dams, Denver Munitions, Engineers, Health Care, Household Appliances, Housing, Kaiser Center, Kaiser Companies, People, Plastics, Property, Shipbuilding, Steel, and Vehicles, along with Miscellaneous and Activities. Included are reports, studies, and publications, as well as correspondence and inter-office memos, although the nature of the materials vary greatly; some is contemporary with a specific project, while others may be more historical in nature. References for a particular company may appear under multiple headings, i.e., Fleetwings, Inc. materials are found under both Airplanes and Household Appliances.

Series 17. Second Addition to the Henry J. Kaiser Papers, 1916-1982..*Physical Description: Carton 304, folders 13-33; Cartons 305-329.Scope and Content Note

With the gift of Edgar F. Kaiser's papers to The Bancroft Library in 1985 and 1986, were two groups of records that were later identified as belonging instead to the Henry J. Kaiser Papers. These additions, processed and incorporated in these two series of additions, include materials similar to those found in the Early Miscellaneous Material (Series 1) and Henry J. Kaiser Personal Papers and Historical Library Subject Files (Series 14 & 15).

The First Addition is arranged topically and contains files for such broad subjects as Aircraft, Aluminum, Automobiles, Cement, Paving, Sand & Gravel, Steel, and Shipyards, along with some early records of Kaiser Paving Company, including operations in Cuba and British Columbia. The bulk of this series consists of published articles about Henry J. Kaiser or the Kaiser companies, arranged chronologically, followed by personal, biographical files that include awards, company histories, and letters of condolence.

The Second Addition, also arranged topically, includes files for Consolidated Builders, Inc., Kaiser Cargo Inc.--Fleetwings Division, Kaiser Fleetwings, Inc., Hawaii Kai, Kaiser Hawaii-Kai Development Company, Kaiser Burns Corporation, Kaiser Community Homes, and Kaiser Company Inc., followed by miscellaneous financial records, corporate minutes for various companies, and additional personal materials, including obituary files and Henry J. Kaiser's correspondence indexes and personal card files. The subject files include correspondence, memos, reports, press releases, minutes, testimonies, and notes, along with advertisements, articles, clippings, brochures, and architectural and engineering drawings, while financial records include statements, audits, and ledgers.

Series 18. Reports And Scrapbooks, circa 1931-1967..*Physical Description: v. 1 - v. 211.Scope and Content Note

These oversize reports and scrapbooks relating to the wartime activities and proposals for post war development were collected in the Henry J. Kaiser Historical Library and date from the 1940's. They trace the early concerns of companies, such as as Kaiser Aluminum and Kaiser Steel, that would soon constitute the Kaiser empire. Included also are some earlier materials on dams and a number of reports on Kaiser's shipbuilding operations. Hawaiian development is one of the few later projects also represented in this series.

The volumes are grouped under subject headings similar to those in Historical Library Subject Files (Series 15): Airplanes, Dams, Denver Shell Plant, Hawaii, Household Appliances, Housing, Kaiser Companies, Magnesium, Miscellaneous, Shipbuilding (General, Northwest, and Richmond), Steel, and Vehicles. The reports contain text, charts, graphic presentations of statistics, drawings, photographs, and etc. The scrapbooks contain clippings of news stories and advertisements, including a set of 13 volumes of clippings relating to Henry J. Kaiser (1882-1967).

Physical Description: Oversize boxes 1-2; Oversize drawers B, folders 1- 69; Oversize Drawers C, folders 1-70.

Scope and Content Note

Oversize awards and certificates are found in the first section of this final series, the bulk of which is composed of oversize drawings, maps, and plans from Kaiser's many projects, similar to the sketches found in Hawaiian Office: Architectural Reports (Series 13) and in the Second Addition to the Henry J. Kaiser Papers (Series 17). The oversize pieces have been flattened and divided into two size categories (B & C) for shelving purposes, then arranged by subjects, annotated with the number of items in each file.
