Scope and Content

The bulk of the Edgar F. Kaiser Papers were transferred to The Bancroft Library by Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation and consist primarily of corporate files from Mr. Kaiser's tenure as president and chairman of the board of Kaiser Industries Corporation. Also included are records from his earlier career as vice president and general manager of Oregon Shipbuilding Corporation and Kaiser Company, Inc., followed by those from his tenure as president of Kaiser Motors Corporation and general manager of Kaiser-Frazier Corporation's automobile plant at Willow Run, Michigan. The collection was extremely well organized and, for the most part, original order was retained. Corporate files were supplemented by papers given by Kaiser's family for inclusion in Series 1: Personal Papers.

The sheer volume of the collection is a testament to the vast and complex nature of the Kaiser family's business undertakings. When considered in conjunction with the papers of his father, Henry J. Kaiser, which are also housed in The Bancroft Library, a fascinating picture emerges of the birth, growth, and eventual decline of one of the West's great 20th-century family business empires.

Edgar F. Kaiser inherited an industrial empire that at one time included over 100 Kaiser Companies and affiliates spread around the globe. After an early apprenticeship on some of the major western United States public works projects of the Depression years, Edgar Kaiser supervised Kaiser's shipbuilding operations in the Pacific Northwest during World War II, and then presided over an unsuccessful automobile manufacturing venture in Michigan in the decade following the war. As president and, later, chairman of the board, Edgar Kaiser led the Kaiser affiliated companies through an unprecedented era of growth during the 1960s, followed by a period of declining profits in the 1970s. This decade culminated in the sale of several companies, a decline in international projects, and in the voluntary liquidation of Kaiser Industries Corporation, the holding company, in 1977.

In his writings, interviews and speeches, Kaiser often reflected on the responsibility of American business, both at home and abroad; on the founding and growth of the Kaiser Companies; on his father's charismatic leadership style; and on his own role as advisor to American presidents in such areas as equal employment opportunity, urban housing, and satellite communications.

The collection provides rich source material for the study of the growth of the Kaiser Permanente Foundation and Kaiser Foundation Hospitals, a unique prepaid health plan begun by Edgar Kaiser at the remote Grand Coulee Dam construction site in the late 1930s, and the post-war industrialization of the West, which was given impetus by the Kaiser-built shipyards, the Kaiser Steel plant at Fontana, California, and the manufacturing of building materials such as gypsum and cement, needed for the post-war housing boom in California. Also documented are related subjects such as urban renewal, affirmative action, on-the-job training, public transit, and corporate sponsorship for the arts in the San Francisco Bay Area and on a national scale, as well as the export of Kaiser technology to Pacific rim, Latin American, and African countries.

President and Chairman of the Board, the Kaiser Companies 1952-1981 Series 5

Physical Description: Cartons 124-496; Vols. 24-32; Oversize folder 9, Box 1

Arrangement

Divided into six sub-series: Card Files (Edgar Kaiser's alphabetical index to subjects, personal, and corporate names); Corporate Files (arranged chronologically by year or range of years, and then alphabetically); Corporate Files, Individual Companies (arranged alphabetically by name); Correspondence and Wire Files (arranged by type of file, and then chronologically); Foreign Files (arranged chronologically by year or range of years, and then alphabetically by country); and General Subject Files (arranged chronologically by year or range of years, and then alphabetically).

Scope and Content Note

This series, by far the largest and most complex, consists of files maintained at Kaiser Center, the corporate headquarters in Oakland, California. The sub-series, Corporate Files, are general files kept for each company, while Corporate Files, Individual Companies contain more detailed information about each of the major Kaiser companies. The bulk of the Foreign Files (chronologically arranged) are followed by a sub-subseries of more detailed individual country files and foreign reports (arranged alphabetically).

Additional Note

Selected digitized items from this series are listed at the end of the finding aid.
