Publication Rights
Some materials in these collections may be protected by the U.S. Copyright Law (Title 17, U.S.C.). In addition, the reproduction of some materials may be restricted by terms of University of California gift or purchase agreements, donor restrictions, privacy and publicity rights, licensing and trademarks. Transmission or reproduction of materials protected by copyright beyond that allowed by fair use requires the written permission of the copyright owners. Works not in the public domain cannot be commercially exploited without permission of the copyright owner. Responsibility for any use rests exclusively with the user. For additional information about the University of California, Berkeley Library’s permissions policy please see: http://www.lib.berkeley.edu/about/permissions-policies
Acquisition Information
The Henry J. Kaiser pictorial materials were transferred from the Henry J. Kaiser Papers (BANC MSS 83/42 c). The Henry J. Kaiser Papers were given to The Bancroft Library by Kaiser Foundation Health Plan, Inc. in 1983, with additions in 1985 and 1986.
Digital Representations Available
Digital representations of selected original pictorial materials are available in the list of materials below. Digital image files were prepared from selected Library originals by the Library Photographic Service. Library originals were copied onto 35mm color transparency film; the film was scanned and transferred to Kodak Photo CD (by Custom Process); and the Photo CD files were color-corrected and saved in JFIF (JPEG) format for use as viewing files.
Arrangement
The collection has been divided by the library into 75 subject-based collections represented by the call number range BANC PIC 1983.001-.075.
The first online finding aid, made available in the 1990s, described just four of the subject-based collections (or “series”). All four (1983.017, .018, .019, and .027) dealt with the Kaiser shipyards in Richmond, California during World War II. Digital images were linked within item listings.
This finding aid was expanded in 2021, providing an overview of each of the 75 series, and "preliminary listings", when available, for some of the series. The added descriptions were from pre-existing paper files, usually for portions of the collection that were given item numbers during collection processing work in the 1980s. The item-numbering work was never completed, and some portions of the collection remain unprocessed and are not available for use. Negatives have not been thoroughly surveyed and inventoried, and their presence is only noted generally in this finding aid. Inquiries concerning access to the remainder of the collection should be directed to The Bancroft Library.

1882  Henry John Kaiser born in Sprout Brook (near Canajoharie), New York, on May 9, son of Francis J. and Mary Yops Kaiser, German immigrants.
1895  Left school at age 13, to help support his parents and three sisters, by working in a dry goods store in Utica, New York.
ca.  Became a salesman and partner in a photographic business in Lake Placid, New York; bought out his partner, and opened stores in Daytona Beach and Miami, Florida, and Nassau.
1903-1906  Moved to Spokane, Washington, and worked as a hardware and sand and gravel salesman.
1907  Married Bessie Fosburgh on April 8 in Boston.
1921  Won his first California paving contract, between Redding and Red Bluff, and established headquarters in Oakland.
1923  Started sand and gravel quarry at Radum (near Livermore), to supply the Livermore-Pleasanton paving job. This was the beginning of Kaiser Sand and Gravel Company.
1927  Worked on a 200-mile, 500-bridge highway in Cuba.
1929  Formed a consortium called Six Companies, Inc., with Henry J. Kaiser as chairman of the executive committee, to build Hoover (Boulder) Dam on the Colorado River. Also collaborated on the building of Bonneville, Grand Coulee, and Shasta Dams, natural gas pipelines in the Southwest, Mississippi River levees, and the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge underwater foundations.
1939  Built the Permanente Cement plant near Los Altos, California, in seven months, to provide cement and aggregates for the construction of Shasta Dam.
1940-1945  During World War II, coordinated production of liberty ships, "baby flat top" aircraft carriers, aircraft, cement, steel, magnesium for bombs and artillery shells, as well as laying the ground work for post war production of housing, cars and consumer goods.
1942  Granted loan by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to build a steel plant at Fontana, California, the first in the western United States. Broke ground in April, and the first blast furnace was blown in on December 30, 1942.
1944  Considered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as his fourth-term vice presidential running mate.
1944  Chairman of the Non-Partisan Association for Franchise Education, to promote voting.
1945  Kaiser-Frazer Corporation incorporated in Nevada, and produced 750,000 automobiles in its ten years of production.
1945-1946  Served as national chairman of the Victory Clothing Collection, the Civilian Production Administration Emergency Food Collection, and the United States Relief Administration.
1946  Began making aluminum at five rented plants, and showed a profit of $5.3 million in less than one year.
1951  Bessie Fosburgh Kaiser died in Oakland. A month later, on April 10, Henry J. Kaiser married Alyce Chester in Santa Barbara.
1955  Turned over day to day operation of Kaiser Industries Corporation to son Edgar F. Kaiser, and moved to Hawaii. There he developed the Hawaiian Village Hotel, and a $350 million real estate development and resort called Hawaii Kai.
1958  Opened Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Honolulu.
1961  Henry J. Kaiser, Jr. died in Oakland.
1961  Awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by University of California, Berkeley.
1963  Received the International Broadcast Free Enterprise Award.
1965  Given the AFL-CIO Murray Green Humanitarian Award, "in recognition of notable accomplishments in voluntary medical care, housing and labor-management relations."
1967  Died on August 24 in Honolulu. By the time of his death at age 85, Henry J. Kaiser had founded more than 100 companies, which operated 180 major plants in 32 states and 40 foreign countries, employing 90,000 people and making 300 products and services, with assets of $2.5 billion.

Scope and Content
The Henry J. Kaiser Pictorial Collection contains an estimated 200,000 items, including photographic prints, albums, glass and film negatives, and some drawings and prints. The collection dates from approximately 1930 to approximately 1976, with some earlier portraits present. The bulk of the collection, like the related manuscript collection (the Henry J. Kaiser papers), dates from after World War II, by which time the affiliated Kaiser companies were producing an amazing array of building materials (including steel, cement, aluminum, and gypsum), beginning engineering projects all over the world, and building affordable housing and consumer goods (such as Kaiser-Frazer cars, Willys Jeeps, and even dishwashers.) Subjects pictured include the Hoover, Parker, Bonneville, Grand Coulee, and Shasta Dams; the Kaiser shipyards in Richmond, California, including its products, workers and workers' housing conditions; Kaiser-Frazer automobiles, Kaiser Steel, Kaiser Hospitals, and other Kaiser corporations in the San Francisco Bay Area and Hawaii, some locations abroad, and the products and projects of these Kaiser companies. Family photographs and portraits are also present.

Two months ago there were no trailers in this camp. The total now exceeds 100. Parking space is $4.50 per week with the owner prepared to park additional rows of trailers in the foreground. This is one of the "better" camps. It is five or six miles from the Richmond Shipyards, but nearer ones are filled.

Scores of children live in this barnyard trailer camp which will soon become a sea of mud. Although flies are bad, these places are habitable in the summer because for four months no rain falls in the San Francisco Bay area. Schools are several miles away.

Typical privies - scores of them have been hurriedly erected - that serve Richmond Shipyard workers. Other families, living within a block or two of brush-lined Richmond "creeks" that are dry at this time of year, use the gravelled creek beds as latrines. After heavy rains, these lowlands overflow.

Waste disposal facilities near Richmond Shipyards take the form of outdoor privies like that in the background, and open cesspools like this into which waste water is piped or dumped. With the coming of rainy weather and frequent cloudbursts, both will often overflow in this low, flat region. There is danger of typhoid. This trailer, hastily built of junk, is home to three Richmond Shipyard workers, one of whom sleeps in the lean-to at the left. "We couldn't rent a place," they said. "We're trying to build, but we can't get material." One water faucet, a block away, serves 17 such "homes." Privies are built of old boxes. There are no baths. BANC PIC 1983.019:059--PIC

Scrap lumber, strawboard cartons, old roofing, used plywood, etc., are the only building materials available to many people who obtain good shipyard jobs, but cannot rent homes, apartments, or even rooms. They build shacks like this, from lumber shown in the pile. Ground rental runs $10 a month for such homes. BANC PIC 1983.019:067--PIC http://oac.cdlib.org/ark:/13030/t9c6012nf

Content/Description

Photographs depicting the building and launching of a pre-fabricated steam ship in the Richmond, California shipyards of the Permanente Metals Corporation. Construction began on November 7, 1942 and was completed November 12. The Maritime Commission accepted the completely outfitted ship on November 15, setting a world record for the fastest-built steam ship. The photographs are grouped under fourteen subject headings showing the phases of construction, workers, and launching ceremony for the S. S. Robert E. Peary. Many of the individual photographs are well-captioned, including the subject matter, day and time taken, and names of individuals featured in the photographs. This information is not included in the brief container listing.
