Immediate Source of Acquisition
The Photographs of Hispanic culture in the Southwest were purchased by The Bancroft Library from Almagre Books in 2009.
Scope and Content
Photographs, chiefly by professional photographers of the region, documenting various aspects of Hispanic culture in the Southwest, as well as northern Mexico, during the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Subjects include churches, adobe houses, streets, plazas, adobe ovens, and donkeys used as pack animals. Regions depicted include Santa Fe, Taos, Albuquerque and other New Mexico locations; Arizona; Ciudad Juárez (Mexico); and unidentified areas of southern Colorado. Also depicted are individuals and groups from these regions, many identified in captions as "Mexicans".
