Biographical Note
Donald E. Olsen was born in Minneapolis in 1919 to Clarence Edward and Thea Olsen. He married Helen Ohlson in 1944 and had one son, Alan Edward Olsen. He received his Bachelor of Arts in Architecture from the University of Minnesota in 1941. He won a scholarship to Harvard's Graduate School of Design but had to defer due to the outbreak and United States' involvement in World War II. During the war years, Olsen found himself in Richmond, CA where he worked at the Kaiser Ship Yard designing large manufacturing and office buildings as well as housing, railway systems, fire stations, and schools. Once the war ended he obtained his Master's degree in Architecture from Harvard graduating in 1946. He continued his education doing post-graduate work in England, studying civic design at the University of Liverpool in 1953 and the Philosophy of Science at the London School of Economics, 1962-63.
After a brief stint in the office of Eliel and Eero Saarinen (1946) in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, Olsen returned to Berkeley where he worked for a brief time for Ernest Kump (circa 1946-1947), Skidmore, Owings and Merrill (circa 1947-1948), and finally Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons (circa 1949-1952). In 1954 Olsen began his own practice and remained for decades a much-esteemed and sought after architect. The same year that he began his own practice he was approached by William Wurster, then Dean of the School of Architecture at UC Berkeley, and asked to join the faculty. When the new College of Environmental Design was established in 1959, Olsen was a founding member of the Department of Architecture. During his tenure at Berkeley, Olsen taught studios, theory courses, and supervised doctoral candidates. Olsen's career lasted thirty-five years, until 1989 when he retired from teaching.
Though Olsen's work included a number of large-scale buildings, his focus was primarily residential. These homes dispersed around the Bay Area are celebrated examples of Olsen's unique style influenced by both California regionalism and the Modern Movement of 20th century Europe.
Scope and Contents
The Donald Olsen Collection spans the years 1941-1998 (Bulk dates 1952-1989) and includes documents created by Olsen while working with Vernon DeMars and Joseph Esherick on Wurster Hall. The collection is organized into five series: Personal Papers, Professional Papers, Faculty Papers, Office Records, Project Records. The collection is extensive and contains a wide range of materials documenting Olsen's long career as an architect and professor at the University of California, Berkeley. His career focused heavily on designing residences, of which many are well documented in this collection.
The Personal Papers (1942-1990) contain biographical material, personal correspondence, student work, and certificates/degrees. The Professional Papers (1949-2006) includes correspondence with other architects, awards, and a mixture of records that include correspondence and presentation notes related to professional organizations, committee work, juries, as well as research and reference files. The Faculty Papers (1955-1988) contain material related to Olsen's professorship at the College of Environmental Design at UC Berkeley. Primarily, this series contains official correspondence with other members of the UC Berkeley Architecture faculty, committee work documentation, and course materials such as syllabi, lecture notes, and slides from classes he taught.

The Office Records (1954-1985) document administrative operations, public relations efforts, financial transactions, and correspondence. Clippings from newspapers and tear sheets from magazines in which Olsen's projects were featured and some photographs. The majority of the Projects Records series documents Olsen's projects spanning the years 1942-1998 and documents his work through drawings, photographs and slides, administrative files, and one model. The majority of projects are residential in nature. Major Projects within this series include Le Conte Hall, UC Berkeley (1964-1968), Wurster Hall, UC Berkeley (1960-1964), the School of Arts and Sciences (1970-1974), and Richmond Sanitary Service Company (1973-1974).

Custodial History
The collection was donated by Donald Olsen and family.
