Abstract: Minutes, reports, corporation papers, correspondence, legal papers, financial records, collections management records, publicity material, exhibition material, photographs, ephemera, audiocassettes, floppy disks and exhibition displays from the International Gay and Lesbian Archives (IGLA), an archive dedicated to collecting materials related to the gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender (GLBT) community. The archives began as a result of Jim Kepner's efforts collecting GLBT materials beginning in the 1940s. In the 1970s, Kepner began allowing researchers into his apartment to conduct research on GLBT history. By 1975, he named his collection the Western Gay Archives (WGA); and in 1979, it was incorporated as the National Gay Archives: Natalie Barney/Edward Carpenter Library (NGA) and moved to offices in Hollywood, California.

Arrangement

The collection is arranged in the following series:

Series 1. Incorporation and board of directors

Series 2. Administration

Series 3. Collections management and projects

Series 4. General correspondence

Series 5. Financial records

Series 6. Promotional materials and events

Series 7. Photographs

Series 8. Audiotapes and floppy disks

Series 9. Posters and exhibition panels and displays

Series 10. Awards and realia

Administrative History

In 1942 in San Francisco, Jim Kepner started collecting books on the gay and lesbian experience. It soon turned into a small private collection, which he then took with him to Los Angeles, then to New York, then to San Francisco again, before eventually settling in Los Angeles in 1951.

By the 1970s, after amassing a larger library of gay- and lesbian-related books and materials in his Torrance, California, apartment, Kepner began allowing researchers access to his collection. In 1975, he named it the Western Gay Archives (WGA). In 1979, a board of directors was created, the collection was incorporated in the State of California as the National Gay Archives: Natalie Barney/Edward Carpenter Library (NGA), and the materials were moved to an office at 1654 North Hudson Avenue in Hollywood, California. The archives changed its name to the International Gay & Lesbian Archives: Natalie Barney/Edward Carpenter Library (IGLA) in 1984. In 1988, the collection was moved to another office space on Robertson Blvd. in West Hollywood.

Throughout the 1980s and early 1990s, Kepner served as curator of IGLA. The operations were maintained by its board of directors, minimal staff and group of volunteers. In the Fall of 1994, the board of directors of IGLA and ONE Institute voted to merge the GLBT archival collections and libraries from both organizations. The boards of directors merged as well, and the resulting organization was named the ONE Institute/International Gay and Lesbian Archives.

Acquisition Information

Materials in this collection were primarily created and collected by Jim Kepner, founder of the International Gay and Lesbian Archives (IGLA). Other portions of the collection were created by various members of IGLA's Board of Directors and staff, including--but not limited to--Gary Hundertmark, Walter Williams, Gary Steele, Olaf Odegaard, Pat Allen, David Moore, Donna Smith and others. In 1994, IGLA merged with ONE Institute to form the organization renamed ONE National Gay & Lesbian Archives. Additional personal materials from Kepner's estate were transferred to ONE National Gay & Lesbian Archives following his death in 1997.

Scope and Contents

This collection comprises minutes, reports, corporation papers, correspondence, legal papers, financial records, collections management records, publicity material, exhibition material, photographs, ephemera, audiocassettes, computer disks and exhibition displays from the International Gay and Lesbian Archives (IGLA), 1979-1994, an archive dedicated to collecting materials related to the gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender (GLBT) community. It should be noted that the primary scope of this collection includes IGLA materials up until it merged with ONE Institute in the Fall of 1994. Some materials in this collection, however, extend beyond the 1994 merger.

The Incorporation and Board of Directors Series includes articles of incorporation, minutes, correspondence and other files pertaining to the activities of IGLA's board of directors.

The Administration Series includes materials relating to the on-going and day-to-day activities of IGLA's staff and volunteers, including--but not limited to--fundraising, membership, donor relations, newsletter publication, office maintenance, personnel and volunteer administration.

The Collections Management and Projects Series includes material documenting IGLA's archival collections, as well as the historical and educational manuscripts and projects that are produced from those collections.

The General Correspondence Series comprises correspondence between IGLA and its members, donors, researchers and others.

The Financial Records Series comprises budget and financial statements, as well as tax return documents.

The Promotional Material and Events Series comprises flyers, mailers, press releases and other material related to IGLA's special events and public programs. This series also includes extensive artists files related to IGLA's 1986 event, "Naked Eyes: A Celebration of Gay Men's Visual Art."

The Photographs Series comprises photographs, negatives and slides documenting IGLA and its activities.

The Audiotapes and Floppy Disks Series comprises audiocassettes with an interview with Jim Kepner and a lecture with board member, Ernie Potvin; and floppy disks, mostly with computer files of IGLA's catalog and database.

The Poster and Exhibition Panels and Displays Series includes promotional posters and signage for IGLA; as well as exhibition displays on gay and lesbian history.

The Awards and Realia Series comprises commendation certificates, an award plaque and buttons.

Administration Series 2. 1975-2000

Series Description

This series comprises clippings, correspondence, newsletters, log books, contracts, personnel records, mailing lists, and other material related to the day-to-day administration of IGLA, circa 1979-1994. Materials in this series document IGLA's daily activities; fundraising and grant-writing projects; membership and donor relations; personnel and volunteer administration; locations and storage issues; relationships with other local, national and international organizations; as well as other activities. In particular, this series includes a detailed daily log documenting staff activities nearly every day from 1981 to 1993.

Arrangement

Newspaper and magazine clippings about IGLA were placed at the beginning of this series. The remaining folders are arranged alphabetically.

Photographs Series 7. 1977-1994

Series Description

This series comprises photographs, negatives, and slides from IGLA (also known as the National Gay Archives [NGA]), 1977-1994. The bulk of the photographs documents Jim Kepner and the IGLA offices. It includes photographs of the archives when it was stored in Jim Kepner's apartment and known as the Western Gay Archives (WGA). Several photographs in this series document IGLA events and participation in local gay pride celebrations. It should be noted that photographs and slides collected as part of IGLA's "Naked Eyes: A Celebration of Gay Men's Visual Art" can be found in Subseries 6.2.

Arrangement

Dated materials in this series are arranged chronologically. The remaining materials are arranged alphabetically.
