Immediate Source of Acquisition
This collection was transferred to Pepperdine Libraries Special Collections and Archives in 2016 from the Pepperdine School of Law, where it had been stored (presumably) since Margaret Brock’s death in 1997.
A second accession of materials was found in the Margaret Brock Conference Room in 2017 and subsequently transferred to Special Collections.

Biographical/ Historical
Born to an affluent family in California, Margaret Martin devoted her life to fundraising and philanthropy. Her mother was a descendent of the famous Crocker family of California and her father, James Rufus Martin was a respected stock and bond broker. In 1931 she wed George C. Brock, son of the founder of Brock and Company Jewelers.

Dubbed “Mrs. California Republican” by President Ronald Reagan, Brock was highly involved in the Republican Party from 1948 onward. She attributes this involvement partially to her father, who helped raise funds for the presidential election of Herbert Hoover. Margaret Brock was a delegate or alternate to 10 national Republican conventions and a co-founder of the Republican Eagles. At the time of her death she was the only woman to ever receive an Eagle of the Year award.

Brock co-chaired California campaigns for the White Houses of Bush and Reagan, as well as Pete Wilson's U.S. senator and California gubernatorial races. Additionally, she served as the finance chairwoman for Rep. David Dreier for 20 years.

Margaret Brock felt strongly about assisting young people in their educational pursuits, and much of her philanthropy was directed at colleges and college students. She made substantial donations to her alma mater, Mount Vernon College, Pepperdine, and additionally created the Margaret Martin Brock Internship in Practical Politics at Claremont McKenna College.

Brock’s relationship with Pepperdine began when she attended the “Birth of a College Dinner” in 1970, where the college's Malibu campus was announced. She provided the funds for the construction of the president's house on campus, securing it's name as "Brock House". Brock House was dedicated in 1975 by President Gerald Ford. Brock sat on the Board of Regents for the university for several years, was a member of the University Board and a lifetime member of the Pepperdine Associates. She also co-chaired the university's first official fund-raising campaign, "The Wave of Excellence Campaign". Brock was highly involved with the Pepperdine School of Law, creating the Brock Scholars program, which continues to this day. Pepperdine honored her with an honorary degree in 1972.

In addition to her other involvements and accolades, Margaret Brock was a Founders Patron of the Los Angeles Music Center, the co-founder of the Junior League of Los Angeles, and an active member of the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

Margaret Brock passed away in 1997 at the age of 93.

Series 1: Correspondence 1948-1997
Physical Description: 4.62 Linear Feet (11 Hollinger boxes)
Arrangement
Series One: Correspondence is arranged in chronological order by year with the correspondence within each file arranged in alphabetical order by correspondent. Brock's original file titles have been maintained, except when necessary to break quantity of correspondence into smaller amounts.
Scope and Contents
Series One: Correspondence includes the bulk of Brock's correspondence from 1948-1997. It includes correspondence with many political figures, from local government to presidents, along with some Pepperdine officials, although the majority of Pepperdine correspondence is found within series two. The most unique thing about Margaret Brock's correspondence files is the fact that she kept copies of much of her outgoing correspondence, which is filed with the piece of incoming correspondence that it belongs with. This gives researchers the ability to see the entire conversation between correspondents. A highlight of this series is an album of letters solicited by Dean Emeritus of the Pepperdine Law School, Ron Phillips, and presented to Margaret Brock on July 4, 1994. The letters came from many people who were close to Margaret over the years, including former Presidents Nixon, Reagan, and Ford, along with many Pepperdine professors, administrators, and alumni. The Nixon letter is particularly interesting, as it is dated after his death. This was because Dean Phillips requested that everyone date their letter July 4, 1994, and Nixon passed away April 22 of that year.

There are also mentions of "The House That Brock Built" booklet, which was distributed at the dedication. Correspondents include Bill Banowsky, Norvel Young, Bob Dole, and many other Pepperdine and political figures.
Physical Description: Burgundy leather album with letters in plastic sleeves. Album is in good physical condition.

Scope and Contents

Album of letters from admirers to Margaret Brock. The album was conceived of by Dean of the Law School, Ron Phillips, and letters were solicited from many people whose lives Margaret had touched over the years. Included are letters by former presidents Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford, Ronald Reagan, and George Bush, Pepperdine administrators such as Andrew (Andy) Benton, William (Bill) Banowsky, David Davenport, and Helen and Norvel Young, along with many other friends, colleagues, and associates of Margaret's, and many Brock Scholars. One particular item of note is the letter from Richard Nixon, which is dated after his death. Dean Phillips asked all writers to date their letters July 4, 1994, but Nixon passed away on April 22, 1994.

Scope and Contents

This series contains materials related to Margaret Brock's involvement with Pepperdine University, as a friend and donor. Most of the materials are textual, but there are two folders of photographs of Brock with prominent Pepperdine officials, such as William and Gay Banowsky, Helen and Norvel Young, and Charles Runnels. The bulk of the materials are what Brock had organized into chronological files labeled "Pepperdine" (now labeled "General Pepperdine"). These files contain each year's worth of correspondence with various university officials, invitations to events, Pepperdine publications, event programs, and newspaper clippings. Some folders also include note cards, on which Brock wrote our remarks to be given at university events. In addition to the General Pepperdine files, there are a number of files about the university president's home, Brock House, for which Margaret Brock provided the funding. The Brock House files include materials related to the dedication of the house as well as subsequent remodels of the residence. There is a folder from each year for the Margaret Brock Endowed Law School Scholarship Fund (referred to as the Brock Law Scholarship), which contain correspondence about the scholarship and endowed fund, information on the selected recipients, articles about the scholarship, and correspondence from the recipients. Also included in the first folder is the original proposal for the scholarship.

Arrangement

Series Two: Pepperdine University is arranged first in alphabetical order, then chronologically within each title grouping. Folder titles were taken from Brock's original file titles, with the exception of her folders entitled "Pepperdine" being changed to "General Pepperdine".
