Abstract: The initial proposal for the Area E Alternative School (AEAS) was for an integrated K-12 school in urban Los Angeles whose core tenets included a multicultural emphasis in the curriculum, a decision-making process that included parents, students and teachers, and a commitment to volunteer from all school community members including students, parents, and staff. The bulk of the collection consists of administrative materials concerning the AEAS committees' efforts to create an integrated charter school. These materials include such things as announcements, by-laws, various committee minutes, fliers, newsletters, and reports.
