Processing History

Processing of this fonds began in the Spring of 2005 and is still in progress. This is the first collection guide produced for this fonds. All items are arranged in record series as recommended by the "Records Management Manual for Members of the U.S. House of Representatives." As a result, the scope and content notes for the individual series have been paraphrased from this manual. All materials have been housed in archival -quality boxes, folders and other enclosures. All boxes are standard record carton dimensions unless noted otherwise. Most metal fasteners such as brads, staples, and paper clips have been removed and replaced by plastiklips or other fasteners where appropriate or no fasteners at all. All audio and visual material has been stored separately and in appropriate preservation storage settings. All the containers have been labeled and the processed fonds is reflected in the Container List. This collection was processed by the following archival interns from the San Jose State University School of Library and Information Science (SJSU SLIS), working under the supervision of Lecturer Lori A. Lindberg: Katherine Dunham, Veronica Ehrenreich, Kate Hedstrom, Jennifer Johnson, Kate Kim, Laurie Skophammer, and Supriya Wronkiewicz. The front matter and descriptive information for the Guide were written by Supriya Wronkiewicz and edited by Lori A. Lindberg. EAD encoding of the Guide was produced by MLIS student Eric Milenkiewicz as part of the course requirements for LIBR 284 - Seminar in Archives and Records Management at SJSU SLIS.

A debt of gratitude must be paid to the dozens of students who have worked with this material over two years and counting as part of the processing practicum component of the SJSU SLIS course LIBR 256 - Archives and Manuscripts. The many MLIS students who have sifted through vast amounts of material and assisted the lead archivist in the appraisal, weeding and rehousing of this fonds have contributed tremendously to this processing effort.

This fonds is arranged chronologically within series, according to Congressional Session wherever applicable and in subject order where appropriate. Materials with no discernible dates have been placed at the start of their respective series.

Ronald V. Dellums and His Congressional Career

(This history has been adapted from information published on two World Wide Web sites: Dellums' entry on Wikipedia.com (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ron_Dellums), and Dellums' biographical sketch from The Institute of International Studies at the University of California, Berkeley (<http://globetrotter.berkeley.edu/people/Dellums/Dellums.html>).

Ronald Vernie Dellums was born on November 24, 1935 and lived most of his life in Alameda County, California. Following high school, he joined the Marines and was discharged in 1956. After his discharge Dellums went to college under the GI Bill, earning an AA from Oakland City College (1958), a BA from San Francisco State College (1960), and a Master of Arts in Social Work from the University of California, Berkeley (1962). He worked as a psychiatric social worker for the California Department of Mental Hygiene before being elected to the Berkeley City Council in 1967. Dellums was elected to the House of Representatives in 1970 and served in 14 Congressional Sessions until his retirement on January 3, 1999. During his tenure in the House, Dellums held several leadership positions. Significant leadership positions included service as Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee (HASC), and as a member of the House District of Columbia Committee and the Congressional Black Caucus (CBC), the latter of which he co-founded. Dellums has taught at San Francisco State University and the University of California, Berkeley. He is presently the Mayor of Oakland, California.

A known pacifist and socialist, Dellums was noted throughout his congressional tenure for his strong views regarding peace through diplomacy and disarmament. As the chair of the HASC, he was a driving force behind a great amount of anti-aggression legislation. Examples of legislative peace initiatives include his opposition to the deployment of the MX ICBM missile. Funding for deployment of the missile was rejected by Congress in 1976 and again in 1981. In 1985 Dellums was responsible for supporting Congressional rejection of the deployment of the second wave of the missile system. The MX missile program was eventually scrapped by the Air Force. Other peace measures included limiting funding for production of the B-2 Spirit Stealth Bomber, spearheading legislation that culminated in no new acquisitions of the bomber following the fall of the Soviet Union in 1995. He came into the position of chair of the HASC via seniority and lost the position when the House switched control to a Republican majority following the 1994 elections.

Important foreign policy activity initiated by Dellums focused on social justice. Dellums' firm stand against, and Congressional leadership in the ending of, U.S. support for the apartheid government in South Africa culminated in the passing of the Comprehensive Anti-Apartheid Act of 1986. The bill had significant bipartisan support and was able to override a presidential veto from Ronald Reagan. Domestically, Dellums initiated and cosponsored legislation favoring civil liberties, the environment, and affirmative action. Another significant domestic policy contribution was the National Health Service Act. While ultimately vetoed, the Act has remained a significant model for the development of other comprehensive health policy initiatives.

While Dellums enjoyed many successes during his congressional career, he was not without detractors. A major controversy in his early career resulted from an official visit to Grenada in 1982 at the invitation of socialist Prime Minister Maurice Bishop. Grenada was constructing an airstrip that Based on his visit, Dellums felt that Grenada posed no threat to the United States, sentiments that were later contradicted by a diary recovered following a U.S. Marine invasion stating that the airstrip in Grenada "will be used for Cuban and Soviet military." Compounding this was a letter from one of Dellums' chiefs-of-staff, Carlottia Scott, to the leader of Grenada, declaring Dellums' commitment to Grenada and admiration of Fidel Castro (only mentioned by first name). Conservative opponents considered these sentiments and Dellums' actions "treasonous". There were also allegations brought against him and one of his aides, John Apperson, regarding marijuana and cocaine use. Following an eight-month investigation, the allegations were dismissed based on lack of evidence.

When Dellums retired as Congressman in 1999, he did so with accolades from several of his fellow Congressmen and Congresswomen, including tributes from Representatives Juanita Millender-McDonald (D-CA), Danny Davis (D-IL), Nancy Pelosi (D-CA), and Tom DeLay (R-TX). Following his retirement from Congress Dellums worked as a lobbyist for a variety of companies and industries, some of which garnered public criticism. He announced his candidacy for Mayor of Oakland, California in October 2005. Following a two-week contentious ballot counting process, Dellums was unofficially announced Mayor-elect on June 16, 2006, winning with 50.18 of the vote. As of January 1 2007, he is serving officially in that capacity.

Scope and Content

The Ronald V. Dellums Congressional Papers consists of records, artifacts, memorabilia, and related items produced by activities undertaken during his 27-year career as a member of the U.S. House of Representatives. These materials include various committee files, hearing and report books; correspondence with constituents and colleagues; sponsored or cosponsored legislative bills; personal files; staff files; press releases and other publications; and subject reference files.

Significant items include original copies of correspondence and memoranda from fellow Congressmen, staff, and constituents, original copies of invitations to various functions, and photographs. Also included are memorabilia from Dellums' career and life (awards, plaques, certificates, Congressional and military commendations), video recordings of House Floor tributes upon his retirement from Congress and the notes and reports from his work overseeing the budgets of the Department of Defense.

Organization

The collection is organized in 20 record series, divided into subseries when appropriate. Note: The processing of this fonds is still in progress, so this information is subject to change. The analog and the digital finding aids will be updated regularly. At present, the total processed volume (not including Memorabilia) is 47 boxes.

Scope and Content Note

This series contains "substantive files relating to staff work and office administration." Items for permanent retention would include lists of current and former staff, office policy manual and memos. Routine office paperwork, such as supply orders, is not retained and is to be discarded. The materials are arranged chronologically by Congress session. The processing of materials is still in progress.
