Biographical / Historical

Cal Poly Pomona's athletics program dates back to 1939, when the school—then known as the Voorhis Unit of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo—formed a baseball team. The Voorhis Unit was established in 1938 at the former site of the Voorhis School for Boys in San Dimas, California as the southern satellite campus for Cal Poly San Luis Obispo. The baseball team played against local high schools and junior colleges until 1943, when Cal Poly abruptly closed the campus in response to declining war-time enrollment.

The campus reopened in fall of 1946, reintroduced baseball, and soon added football, basketball, track, and tennis to the athletics program. Before the war-time closure, the campus and its teams used the same nickname as San Luis Obispo: Cal Poly Mustangs. By early 1947, the San Dimas students lobbied for a name change to differentiate themselves from the main campus. The name change movement gained traction and the students voted that September to become the Broncos, the name Cal Poly Pomona students and alumni are known by to the present day.

In 1951, Cal Poly became a member of the SCIA (Southern California Independent Association) league. Through the 1950s and 1960s, Cal Poly would introduce swimming, wrestling, soccer, water polo, golf, gymnastics and cross country programs. In 1966, Cal Poly became a member of the CCAA (California Collegiate Athletic Association) Conference, part of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division II. That same year, the school would officially separate from Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and became the 16th campus to join the California State College System.

Cal Poly Pomona admitted its first female students in 1961, although it would take several years for women's sports teams to be included in the athletics program. Women's cross country, tennis, and volleyball teams were formed first. By the early 1970s, there were women's field hockey, basketball, swimming, badminton, softball, and track and field teams. A co-ed volleyball team was formed in 1969 in addition to the men's and women's teams.

Several notable student athletes have come out Cal Poly Pomona. Track and field team member Chi Cheng set world records in the 200-meter hurdles and in the 100-meter hurdles and won a bronze medal at the 1968 Olympic games in Mexico City. Football player Jim Zorn went on to play and coach for National Football League (NFL) teams. Other alumni have gone on to play for professional teams in the United States and abroad. Distinguished Cal Poly Pomona coaches include John Scolinos, who was appointed head baseball coach in 1962, served as pitching coach for the U.S. Olympic team in 1984, and retired as the winningest coach in NCAA Division II history, and Darlene May, who coached women's basketball

Series 2: Papers 1958-2017*Scope and Contents

The series contains information guides for various Cal Poly Pomona varsity teams, which list team members and game schedules; clippings; news releases; flyers; and materials on assorted athletics programs and notable staff and alumni. Notable staff and alumni include Roman Gabriel, who was head coach of the Cal Poly Pomona football team from 1980-1982. Prior to working as a coach, Gabriel played football professionally in the National Football League (NFL) for the Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles; Don Hogan, who was on the Cal Poly Pomona football team in 1960 and selected for the NAIA All-American team for small colleges; and alumnus Lonnie Turner, who went on to join the football World League.

The series also includes materials on the Mercy Bowl Football Classic. On October 29, 1960, the Cal Poly San Luis Obispo football team was involved in a plane crash while returning from a game in Bowling Green, Ohio. Twenty of the forty-eight passengers were killed. Cal Poly Pomona and several other colleges in southern California set up the Mercy Bowl Football Classic to help raise funds for the families of those killed in the crash.
