Biographical note
Arthur L. Bolton was born in San Francisco circa 1877 and died in Berkeley in 1958 at the age of 81. In the 1890s he studied Ornithology at Stanford University under Leverett Mills Loomis, and spent field time in the Farallon Islands. In 1898 he journeyed to Alaska, where he searched for gold and wrote prose. He served as the Superintendent of Grounds at the University of California Berkeley from 1902-1905. Arthur L. Bolton at one time ran for mayor of Berkeley, was the Northern California Representative for the State Board of Architects, and was a member of the California Academy of Sciences. He was an Honorary member of the Poetry Society of England, and was a prolific writer of short stories and poetry. He married Mary Saylor Bolton (1879-1971) and had three children; Eleanor Saylor Bolton, Arthur Jr., and Beatrice Mary Bolton. The family lived on La Loma Avenue, in Berkeley California.

Poetry and Short Stories

Scope and content

This subseries contains drafts written by Arthur L. Bolton. Bolton's prose consists of both poetry and short stories. The themes include Klondike Adventures (about his exploration in Alaska circa 1900), the Arizona desert (where he and his wife lived when they first married), and Children's Verse (containing poetry and gentle prose about and to his children).

Each draft is housed with multiple titles in the order the collection was received. Specific titles have been selected to identify different themes. Many files contain miscellaneous titles from his various themes.

Most of the drafts are typed with editing notes added by Bolton, it is noted in the finding aid when drafts are handwritten.
