Biographical Note
Gail A. Schlachter (1943-2015) worked for more than 30 years as a librarian, administrator, educator, and publisher in the library and information science fields. She served on professional councils, as editor of the journal "Reference and User Services Quarterly," and received numerous awards and recognitions for her work as well as for her publications. Schlachter was also the founder and president of Reference Service Press, a company that focuses on developing and disseminating financial aid resources for college and graduate students. In 2015, she was posthumously inducted into the California Library Hall of Fame for her many contributions to the profession.

Scope and Contents
This collection includes financial aid directories published by Reference Service Press that document the financial aid, scholarship, and funding opportunities available for students of varying degree majors, groups of people, and students in general. The collection also includes copies of the journal edited by Gail Schlachter and a social sciences bibliography authored by Schlachter. The date range for the collection is 1977-2016, but more than half of the material in the collection falls between 1995-2016.

Arrangement
The collection is arranged into four series: Series I. Directories for Groups of People; Series II. Directories for Degree Programs; Series III. Directories for General Studies; and Series IV. Other Schlachter Writings.
