Abstract: The Abraam Krushkhov Collection documents Krushkhov's achievements in local, national, and international levels of urban planning. Materials (1933-1987) include speeches, writings, correspondence, education papers, and urban planning files relating to numerous U.S. and international regions. The collection also describes his professional involvements with Daniel, Mann, Johnson, & Mendenhall (DMJM), Archisystems, International Planning Associates, and various governmental planning agencies. Some of Krushkhov's teaching files, such as his tenure as a urban planning instructor at California State University Dominguez Hills and other academic institutions, are included as well. The collection also includes photo slides relating to urban planning.

History/Biography

As a member of the American Institute of Certified Planners (AICP), Abraam Krushkhov (1917-1990) had over 38 years of professional experience in providing city and regional planning services to both governmental agencies and private firms, many of which involve the preparation of plans for planning commissions, services to federal governments, state and metropolitan area planning bodies, county and city planning commissions, private land developers, and citizen advisory groups. He received his B.A. in Architecture from Illinois Institute of Technology in 1950, and completed some graduate course work in Advanced Building Research, where he worked studied under László Moholy-Nagy. He also served in the U.S. Army from 1942 to 1946 (where he was known as Abraam Crowe).

Mr. Krushkhov specialized in the conceptualization and organization of comprehensive planning programs. This involve the selection and management of professional planning teams; the production of planning works in accordance with budget and schedule; conducting comprehensive work review on planning programs; and presenting plans and proposals to public agencies, private firms, and citizen groups. Mr. Krushkhov is known for his participation in the planning of Nigeria's new federal capital Abuja (1976-1979). Mr. Krushkhov's planning enterprises are evident in many regions throughout the United States. He started his planning career in Chicago (1948-1951), where he helped produce master plan for Oak Ridge, Tennessee; helped produce master plan for Robbins, Illinois; and prepared site plans for the Chicago Housing Authority. When he relocated to California in 1952, Mr. Krushkhov served as the Assistant Director of Planning for Santa Clara County Planning Department (1952-1956); Principal Planner for the Fresno-Clovis Metropolitan area, California (1957-1958); directed general plan programs for Anchorage, Alaska; Lake Tahoe regional planning; Monterey Peninsula area planning; Foster City new town plan in California; Santa Cruz County, California, new town plan; Ventura County, California, general plan; San Anselmo, California, business district plan; and Cache Creek-Clear Lake water benefit study (California, 1958-1962).

From 1962 to 1967, Mr. Krushkhov became a co-equal partner of the planning consulting firm, Ruth + Krushkhov, based in Berkeley, California. From there he directed the Santa Ana, California, metropolitan area plan; Treasure Island master plan (California); City of Santa Paula, California, general plan; City of Hermosa Beach, California, general plan; and Foster City, California, neighborhood plan. In addition, he participated in the California State development plan and the San Francisco Downtown rezoning study. Mr. Krushkhov later became the vice president and director of planning for DMJM in Los Angeles (1967-1971). He directed preparation for the Minnesota Experimental City plan; environmental impacts of highways for the National Highway Research Board; preservation of Comstock Lode (Virginia City, Nevada); Del Norte County, California, general plan; Yuma County, Arizona, general plan; Colorado River Indian Reservation general plan; Rio Salado, Arizona, Project study design; Marincello, California, new town plan; Pleasure Island, Port Arthur, Texas, development plan; Waco, Texas, Housing Authority relocation study; South Central Los Angeles Industrial study; Santa Barbara, Eureka, and Glendale (all in California) freeway studies; Redwood Shores Design Review Board; Kingsmill at Williamsburg General Plan; urban renewal plans for National City, Tulare, Oxnard and Inglewood (all in California); Santa Maria, California, airport plan; San Diego County courthouse study; Laguna Beach, California, general plan; San Francisco Naval Station development plan; and Oak Park, Ventura County, development plan.

As vice president of planning at Archisystems (1972-1979), Mr. Krushkhov directed the preparation of large-scale land development plans for Howard Hughes' properties in California, Nevada, and Arizona. He also prepared development proposals for Santa Barbara, Crenshaw and Watts area, and South Central Los Angeles. From 1976-1979, Mr. Krushkhov, in addition to his duties at Archisystems, also served as project director for International Planning Associates (IPA) in Los Angeles, where he authored and prepared the proposals that won a world-wide competition to serve as consultants to Nigeria's Federal Capital Development Authority in the planning of Abuja. As a result, he traveled extensively to Africa, Europe, Asia, and South America to study urban and regional planning projects.

Moreover, Mr. Krushkhov held various teaching posts throughout his career, including U.S. Army Engineer School in Ft. Belvoir, Virginia (Photo-topography); University of California Berkeley Extension (Introduction to City Planning); and California State University Dominguez Hills (Principles and Practice of City Planning).
