Acquisition Information

Gift of Patricia and Bob Schaelchlin, 2006.

Processing Information

The collection was processed by Stefanie Crump in 2006. In processing this collection, an attempt was made to preserve the contextual structure of Schaelchlin's research. Materials were transferred from their original binders into folders, and the original chronological order was maintained. A few items were merged with other folders based on content and relevance. Duplication of materials may occur between two or more subseries, for instance, a document written by J.C. Harper, legal advisor for both Ellen Browning Scripps and Edward Willis (E.W.) Scripps may be present in all three of their files.

Biography / Administrative History

Patricia Ann McKeown Schaelchlin was born in Flint, Michigan on July 7, 1924. Through her writings and work with the Save Our Heritage Organisation (SOHO), the La Jolla Historical Society, the San Diego Historic Site Board, and Friends of the La Jolla Library, Schaelchlin helped preserve the cultural and architectural history of La Jolla and San Diego.

Schaelchlin moved from Michigan to San Diego in 1959. After having 3 children, Mrs. Schaelchlin decided to go back to school, enrolling at San Diego State University where she attained both bachelors and masters degrees in anthropology. By the early 1970s she had become a member of the Save Our Heritage Organisation (SOHO), with whom she would help create Heritage Park (a San Diego County landmark). Preserving the history of the community she loved became her passion. She successfully convinced the Port Commission to make the San Diego Rowing Club a city landmark. As a writer, Schaelchlin contributed articles to the former La Jolla Report and wrote a monthly column on San Diego history in, San Diego Home/Garden.

It is Schaelchlin's passion for history, and for her adopted home town, that led her to write about La Jolla and its famous inhabitants. Her master's thesis was an interpretation of famous La Jollan, Anson Peaslee Mill's diary. Her work with historical societies and similar organizations led her to write published works about historical landmarks like the San Diego Rowing Club. Schaelchlin spent fifteen years researching Ellen Browning Scripps and her life in La Jolla, and decided around 1990 to extend that research to the rest of the family beginning with James Mogg Scripps. Schaelchlin's well researched writings are labors of love that provide detailed insight not only into the history of San Diego/ La Jolla, but into the lives that helped shape the American cultural landscape.

Along with Newspaper barons: a biography of the Scripps family (Kales Press, 2003), Schaelchlin wrote, The little clubhouse on Steamship Wharf: San Diego Rowing Club, 1888-1983 (Rand Editions, 1984), and La Jolla: the story of a community, 1887-1987 (Rand Editions, 1988).

Scope and Content of Collection

The Patricia A. Schaelchlin Collection contains materials related to Schaelchlin's original work entitled, Newspaper Barons: a Biography of the Scripps Family. This biography places particular emphasis on three Scripps family members --Edward Willis (E.W.), Ellen Browning, and James Edmund Scripps-- and the collected materials reflect this emphasis. The bulk of the collection consists of the author's notes regarding biographic materials, and photocopies of those original documents. Materials researched for Schaelchlin's work include previously published biographies and genealogies by others, legal documents, Scripps family correspondence, and newspaper articles. The collection covers the years 1791 to 2003 with the bulk of the material ranging from 1838 to 2001.

The first series, "Research Materials," contains the author's research notes interspersed with corresponding reproductions of primary and secondary sources (newspaper clippings, court documents, personal and business correspondence) related to the Scripps family, their personal and business interests. The author arranged her research into three main components: index cards organized by subject, binders organized both by subject and year, and binders arranged chronologically. Duplicate research notes may be found in all three areas, some containing highlighting and/or handwritten notes not found on other copies. Miscellaneous primary and secondary materials have been placed in the Topical Files subseries. This includes general notes and information gathered by Schaelchlin that provide background information on a time period or event, but that do not fit easily with any one subseries.

The second series, "Drafts for Publication" contains materials created and attained during the process of writing and publishing her work. These materials include partial drafts of individual chapters and three complete manuscripts sent to Ellen Reville, Peter Jensen, and Warren Wilkinson (all of whom critiqued her work). These materials also contain additional notes by Schaelchlin. In addition, several folders are dedicated to correspondence between the author and others regarding the production and publication of her book, permission for photos, requests for research materials and information on particular individuals in or associated with the Scripps family. Photos used and/or considered for the book also comprise a sizable amount of material.

Note to the researcher: Schaelchlin often made a shorthand notation of the institution from which she acquired her sources on the bottom left-hand corner of the photocopied item, and in the "source" field on her typed notes. Abbreviations are as follows:

Series 1. Research Materials 1791-2001

Scope and Content Note

This series is comprised of research notes and materials compiled by Schaelchlin for the purpose of creating a published work on the Scripps family. It begins with chronologically arranged materials comprised solely of the author's research notes. Most notes contain quotes from researched sources placed into context by the author. Other notes provide information on specific materials and source locations (where to retrieve more information, what other resources should be investigated, etc.). These files are followed by chronologies produced by Schaelchlin (with dates ranging from 1619 to 1992), briefly recording Scripps family births, deaths, marriages, inheritances, occupations, and business dealings, as well as more generalized research materials including the author's "to do" lists, checked sources, questions to self regarding her findings, etc. These materials in particular shed light on Schaelchlin's biographical perspective.

The series is arranged chronologically and by subject.

Subseries 1.1. E.W. Scripps 1844-1999*Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains biographical information on E.W. (Edward Willis) Scripps, including source materials found in the Vance H. Trimble Collection of research materials on E.W. Scripps. Materials from 1873-1889 are comprised of the Schaelchlin's notes together with photocopies of source materials— mostly of letters to E.W.'s sister, Julia Anne "Annie" Scripps. These items recount his travels, health concerns, his feelings on becoming a reporter, his business abilities, and his desire to find a wife. Later correspondence is comprised of letters between family and associates that offer an account of Scripps's marriage to Nackie Holtsinger, their children and his in-laws, his growing empire, and the disagreements with his brother James that led to a permanent rift by 1891. The subseries also contains several files of business related correspondence.

Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains photocopied biographies, articles, speeches, handwritten diary entries, correspondence and other compiled writings contextually arranged by Schaelchlin. These secondary materials are often accompanied by Schaelchlin's notes. Also included is a chronology of events in Ellen Browning Scripps' life. Here, a significant emphasis is placed on her travels between the years 1888-1890 and 1902-1906.

Subseries 1.3. Frederick T. Scripps 1860-1960

Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains materials on Frederick T. Scripps with a significant amount of materials on court cases in which Frederick was involved. Of particular interest is the information obtained on the Benoit case of 1892 in which Frederick Scripps was peripherally involved (having been indicted separately for his alleged involvement with a minor). Included here are court documents (in which the only mention of Frederick Scripps is made in an 1891 court subpoena) and newspaper clippings outlining the accusations of Mary Benoit (age fourteen) against her parents and the implication of others involved, as well as correspondence between family members regarding Frederick's involvement in the criminal case.

Subseries 1.4. George H. Scripps 1864-1967*Scope and Content Note

This subseries is comprised of biographical information for George H. Scripps, older brother and business partner of E.W. Scripps. Schaelchlin's notes and researched materials for this subseries are relatively small compared to other subseries. Most of Schaelchlin's research relating to George H. Scripps rest in the Family Litigation subseries (where they comprise the bulk of those materials).

Subseries 1.5. James E. (Edmund) Scripps 1840-1998

Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains information on James Edward Scripps, brother of E.W. and Ellen Scripps et al. A respected newspaper publisher in his own right, he began not as a journalist but a school teacher (though very little of this portion of his life is covered here). The bulk of this subseries concentrates on his founding of the Detroit News and his turbulent relationship with E.W. Scripps as evidenced in correspondence and probate documents regarding George H. Scripps. Schaelchlin biographical notes rely heavily on the diary entries of James E. Scripps as well as the research of Cyril Arthur Player. Diary entries from 1858-59 are not complete but written in his own hand. Information on newspapers begun by James Scripps have been retained in this subseries as originally intended by Schaelchlin. Other materials related to his newspaper career and contributions may be found in the Newspaper Business subseries.

Subseries 1.6. James Mogg Scripps 1838-1918

Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains biographical information on James Mogg Scripps, patriarch of the Scripps family. It contains excerpts and copies of complete letters between himself and family members in England documenting his trip to America, cities and states he traveled through, and finally his settlement in Rushville, Illinois. From here, letters home document his travails as a farmer and his many business ventures, including manufacturing sorghum syrup, establishing a brickyard an ice making business, and a saw mill (Chase and Scripps).

Subseries 1.7. Kellogg Family 1866-2000

Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains information on the Kellogg family with particular emphasis on Frederick William Kellogg, a man already involved in the newspaper business when he married Florence Scripps, the daughter of William A. and Ambrosia Scripps. Notes and source materials collected on Frederick William Kellogg are predominately comprised of correspondence between Frederick and business associates. Several files regard a legal dispute between E.W. Scripps and Frederick. Also of significance are newspaper articles regarding William Scripps Kellogg and the La Jolla Beach and Tennis Club. The subseries also includes a 72 page account of Kellogg family history written by Giles Bacon Kellogg (1887).

Subseries 1.9. Other Scripps Family and Associates 1841-2001*Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains excerpts and photocopies of correspondence, newspaper articles, and author's notes relating to other figures in the Scripps family. Of note are multiple folders relating to Jacob (J.C.) Harper, legal advisor, agent, and confidant to both Ellen Browning and Edward W. Scripps. These materials especially highlight the personal relationship between Harper and E.W. Scripps, as well as Harper's role as legal liaison and counselor. Also of note are the diary entries of Anson Mills, a notable La Jolla and acquaintance of Ellen Browning Scripps (who is mentioned numerous times in his writings). Mills' diaries formed the crux of Schaelchlin's 1979 master's thesis, Anson Peaslee Mills in his cultural context: an interpretation of his diaries 1898-1932.

Subseries 1.10. Family History 1791-2000*Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains photocopies of published materials relating to Scripps family history/genealogy (most of which were written by Scripps family members), and contextual notes written by Schaelchlin. Along with the published works is a brief family biography written by Elizabeth Mary Scripps Sharp at the request of Florence Scripps Kellogg. The subseries also contains notes and article clippings regarding marriages and deaths of various family members and associates (most of whom were not researched or written about in-depth by Schaelchlin). Similar materials may be found within individual subseries of more prominent family members, i.e., multiple obituaries for E.W. Scripps, Ellen Browning Scripps, etc.

Subseries 1.11. Family Litigation 1900-1950*Scope and Content Note

The subseries contains photocopied court documents, newspaper clippings, and author's notes regarding various legal battles between Scripps family members. The bulk of these materials involve the contestation of George H. Scripps' will and are comprised of court documents, correspondence between family members and their lawyers, newspaper articles, and the author's contextual notes. Of particular interest is the correspondence written between E.W. Scripps and his lawyer/agent J.C. Harper (also acting as agent for Ellen Browning Scripps) as they provide a detailed record of the legal battle from beginning to resolution, and capture its effect on family relationships. These folders make up the bulk of this subseries.

Subseries 1.12. Miramar Ranch 1890-2000*Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains documentation regarding the acquisition of property in San Diego County for the purpose of constructing Miramar Ranch. For this subseries, most folders have been organized by year as they contain a variety of materials regarding Miramar Ranch. Folders include photocopied primary and secondary source material (including excerpts from other biographies), maps, and author's notes. Photocopied materials include indentures and deed transfers for land purchased primarily by Edward Willis (E.W.) Scripps (including legal documents pertaining to Surr Dam), letters and newspaper articles regarding building plans and landscaping on the property, as well as the construction of Poway Road. Letters are addressed either to family members, contractors or other hired help. Most source materials are accompanied by the author's research notes.

Subseries 1.4. Newspaper Business 1848-2001*Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains legal agreements, correspondence, newspaper articles, and author's notes relating to the Scripps family's newspaper concerns. Included is a great deal of correspondence regarding disagreements, resignations, salary increases, and organizational changes amongst personnel (including his sons John P. and James G. Scripps). Also included is a complete thesis written by Mark A. Coir critiquing the expedition of one hundred "working men" to the Paris World's Fair of 1889 (funded by the Scripps League of Newspapers).

Subseries 1.14. Schuyler County, Illinois 1829-1991*Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains information pertaining to Schuyler County and the town of Rushville, Illinois—the Scripps family homestead. Schuyler materials provide background information on County history, population statistics, etc., and include maps, newspaper articles, and legal documents obtained from the Rushville County Courthouse and Liz Boehm (an unknown source). These materials in particular make no mention of any known Scripps family members, but do provide an interesting glimpse into the lives of frontier homesteaders in the 19th century. Materials pertaining to Rushville concern the Scripps family and include notes by Schaelchlin on 19th century farm life in Rushville, information on Scripps Park, and correspondence regarding a bicentennial Scripps family reunion in 1991.

Drawer 44 , Box 2	Includes a copy of The Schuylerite (v.4), information on Scripps Park and the Virginia, and two Schuyler County Atlas' (one reproduction from 1872 and a contemporary edition produced in 1994).

Subseries 1.17. Index Files get dates*Scope and Content Note

This subseries contains typed and handwritten biographical notes on index cards. Information relayed on these cards replicate the typed notes found interspersed among Schaelchlin's research materials. Schaelchlin arranged these cards into loose contextual and familial groupings, i.e., information relating to Edward W. Scripps and his immediate family was grouped together, while information on his father, James Mogg Scripps, was placed along side his patriarchal ancestors. The relationships presented in these groupings have been maintained with a few minor changes in organization.

Materials are arranged alphabetically within sub-groupings. Hand written notes are separate and also arranged alphabetically by subject. These materials are located in five (5) boxes.

Drawer 44 , Box 1	Scripps Siblings—Biographical information
Drawer 44 , Box 3	Early Scripps Biographic Information—Includes cards on their father, grand father, etc., as well as information on life in Rushville and about six cards relating to real estate.
