Scope and Contents of the Collection

The materials that comprise the American Missionaries and Educators in China collection originated from Claremont Graduate School's Oral History Program. In 1969 the China Missionaries Project began, creating oral histories for 44 individuals who served as missionaries or educators in China. During the course of this project several of the missionaries and educators donated their papers to Honnold/Mudd Library Special Collections.

The collection contains many different types of materials, including correspondence, diaries, writings, photographs, reports, article clippings, and booklets. The collection covers the years 1889-1972 with the bulk of the material ranging from 1910-1950.

In processing this collection, the documents were organized by individuals represented in the collection, divided into series for the larger sets of personal papers, and arranged in chronological order.

The collection is organized into 23 series:

- Series 1: Ady (Merrill S.)
- Series 2: Cross (Rowland McLean)
- Series 3: Ely (Lois Anna)
• Series 4: Gillespie (Miln)

Series 2 Cross (Rowland McLean)

Scope and Content Note

Rowland McLean Cross was born in 1888 in Sauk Center, Minnesota. Mr. Cross went to China in 1917 under the sponsorship of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Mission. From 1917-1940 Mr. Cross was in North China in several positions. He did student evangelistic work near the National University, including Bible Classes, conferences and discussion groups. As American Executive Secretary he worked co-equally with a Chinese Executive Secretary for the North China Kung Li Hui Council (the organization of Congregational Churches, schools, and hospitals). He then moved to the Peking-Tunghsien (formerly Tungchow) area as Executive Secretary of that country field, and engaged in evangelical and rural reconstruction work.

Ely (Lois Anna)

Scope and Content Note

Lois Anna Ely was born in Missouri on December 29, 1888. She completed her Master of Arts from the College Missions in June 1919, writing the thesis Kwan-Yin Bodhisattva. She was a teacher and church worker for the United Christian Missionary Society in Nanking. In the early 1940s Ms. Ely moved to Shanghai where she did editorial work. While living in Shanghai was taken to the Great China University grounds to captivity and was in a Japanese Prison camp for 8 months. 1050 prisoners from Great Britain, United States, and Holland were held in the internment camp, a plot of 12 acres known as the Chapei Civil Assembly Center. Ms. Ely lost 25 pounds while in captivity at the camp. The ordeal finally concluded in 1943, when the hostages were taken home on the SS Gripsholm, a Swedish prisoner exchange. Ms. Ely died in 1972 at 83 years old.

The bulk of the Lois Ely collection contains scrapbooks that document her time in the Japanese internment camp. Included are numerous letters from loved ones, newspaper clippings, and ephemeral materials, such as menus from the ship while she was headed home, postcards of sites visited, cloth samples, and identification cards. One of the scrapbooks features a detailed hand colored ink sketch of the compound where she was imprisoned.

Scope and Content Note
Jean Lingle was born on March 4, 1868 in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1889, age 21, she married Rev. Ellsworth G. Ritchie, whom she followed to Shandong, China that same year. Within a year of their arrival, Mrs. Jean Richardson Ritchie lost her first born (a son) and within a matter of weeks later her husband died of dysentery. She said of him that he was her “all in all.” The Calvin Mateer’s persuaded her to stay on; unusual for a single recently widowed woman. Until 1889, she taught at the Mateer school.

It is not clear how she met her second husband, Rev. William Hill Lingle, but she married him in August 1895, probably in Shanghai.

In 1890, Rev. William Lingle married Cora Smith. After arriving in Guangdong province, China, she became very ill, and the couple returned home. Soon afterwards, Cora Smith Lingle died. William returned to China, ca. 1893. How he met and subsequently met Jean Richardson Ritchie, the evidence does not say I suspect that theirs was a “missionary marriage.” Subsequently, she followed him south to Guangdong. He began “intinerating” in southern Hunan in 1898-1899. Meanwhile, Jean returned to the States extremely ill. She was pregnant with their second daughter. She gave birth to Margaret ca. 1899.

woman As a newlywed, she moved to China with her husband, Rev. William H. Lingle in 1899. The Lingles spent the next 43 years working as Presbyterian missionaries and educators in China. For a time Mrs. Lingle worked as the principle of the Fuhsiang High School for Girls.

In 1899 or 1900, she returned to China with the approval to open a new mission in Hunan. An interesting sidelight to Mrs. Ingle was her conversion (ultimately temporary) to Seventh Day Adventism. Because of her dalliance with Adventism, she was almost expelled for the Presbyterian Church.

In 1932 Mr. and Mrs. Lingle moved to Pasadena, California. They had two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Lingle Amos and Mrs. Dorothea Lingle Brannon. Mrs. Lingle died on September 12, 1953 at the age of 85 years old.

The bulk of the Lingle collection contains correspondence (1889-1953), writings on her experiences in China, reports from the girls middle school where Lingle worked, and photographs.

Series 14 Rowley (Grace)

Scope and Content Note
Grace Rowley was born on May 1, 1887 in Valparaiso, Indiana, but spent the majority of her childhood in Southern California. She received her B.A. from Occidental College, Los Angeles, in 1910, majoring in English and Latin. In 1909, while attending a Y.W.C.A. students' she decided to become a missionary. In 1910 she was appointed by the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church to the West Shantung Mission in Weihsien, China. Miss Rowley resided in Weihsien until the Japanese invasion in 1927, fleeing to Japan for several months. By the fall of 1927, Miss Rowley was able to return back to the Weihsien compound and stayed until 1932. From 1932-1941, Miss Rowley resided in Yihhsien, Shantung, where she was principal of the Girls' Middle School. From 1946-1947, she worked in a hospital and taught English in the mission's school for boy in Hwaiyuan, Anhwei. In total, Miss Rowley spent over 30 years living in China as a missionary. She completed her professional life at Ming Quong Home in Los Gatos, California, where she worked from 1949-1952. Grace Rowley died on June 28, 1982 at 95 years of age.

Series 17 Simkin (Robert and Margaret)

Scope and Content Note
Margaret Timberlake Simkin was born in Lancaster, New Hampshire on September 6, 1892. She received her B.A. in philosophy and religion from Earlham College, graduating with honors in 1922. In 1923 she earned an M.A. in education from Teachers College from Columbia University. She then studied at the Hartford Graduate School from 1931-1932. In 1923 she married Robert Louis Simkin who had been serving in China since 1906. He was born in 1879 in New York. He graduated from Harverfort College and also received advanced degrees from Haverford Teachers College and Union Theological Seminary. He taught religion at West China Union University in Chengtu, China for the duration of his career. During this time Mrs. Simkin was a homemaker with brief periods working as a librarian and teacher until 1944. They were both Quaker missionaries at the West China Union University. After leaving China, Mrs. Simkin worked as the co-director of Woolman House on the University of Southern California campus, from 1945-1950. Mr. and Mrs. Simkin had two daughters. Mr. Simkin died in 1958 while the couple was living in Los Angeles. Mrs. Simkin died in 1993 at 101 years old.

Series 19 Steurt (Marjorie Rankin)
Scope and Content Note
Marjorie Rankin Steurt was born October 8, 1888 in Penfield, Pennsylvania. She finished her B.A. at Mount Holyoke and an M.A. and Ph.D. in educational psychology and counseling from Teachers College, Columbia University.
In 1912 Mrs. Steurt arrived in China as a missionary, sponsored by the Presbyterian Mission Board. In Weihsien from 1912-1919, Mrs. Steurt taught at a girls high school, acting as principal for one year. During this time she supervised 40 country schools and started an experimental school in Tsingtau. For the following several years, Mrs. Steurt taught in Weihsien at the boys high school, and then at a school in Ichowfu.
From 1926-1927, Mrs. Steurt was head of the English department in Cheeloo University in Tsianfu, the capital of Shentung. Due to the Nanking Massacre, a communist student uprising in 1927 she held this position for less than one year. All foreigners were ordered to the coast and Mrs. Steurt traveled back to the United States where she continued with her graduate studies in personnel and psychology at the Teachers College at Columbia University.
Mrs. Steurt was able to return to China in 1929 when she became the director of an experiment school in one of the big government universities, Nankai, in Tientsin. In 1932 the university was destroyed by the Japanese and Mrs. Steurt moved back to the United States. 1934 -1937 Mrs. Steurt was head of the psychology department and dean of students at Monmouth Junior College at Long Branch, New Jersey. In 1937 Mrs. Steurt married Roy Steurt. Marjorie Steurt died in 1978.
