Biographical/Historical note

The original Jan Baum-Iris Silverman Gallery opened on March 15, 1977 in Los Angeles. Following the death of Iris Silverman, Jan Baum reopened the Gallery under her own name in 1981, continuing the gallery's focus on contemporary and African art, with a particular emphasis on California artists. Baum retired and closed the gallery in 2007.

Access

Open for use by qualified researchers, except unformatted audiovisual materials.

Acquisition Information

Gift of Jan Baum Gallery in 2008.

Processing Information note

In 2008 Emmabeth Nanol re-housed the archive and created a box list. In 2009 she further processed and arranged some of the materials and expanded the box list into a preliminary finding aid under the supervision of Andra Darlington. The arrangement of the archive is based on the original order of the collection as it was received from the Jan Baum Gallery, though it required some refinement. Collection-level notes are based on curatorial acquisition documentation.

Separated Materials note

155 books and 23 serials were transferred to the Library's core collection. Most of the transferred books are exhibition catalogs. Once these materials have been processed, they can be found in the library catalog with a Provenance search on "Jan Baum Gallery." An itemized list of transferred publications may be requested from the repository.

Scope and Content of Collection

The Jan Baum Gallery records document the relationships between the gallerists, artists, museums, and collectors through extensive correspondence and exhibition materials. The archive also contains photographic materials, notes, price lists, artists' statements, loan agreements, and audiovisual materials documenting artworks and installations. Among the artists represented in the archive are Chris Burden, Bella Feldman, Sylvia Glass, Kathryn Jacobi, Roberto Gil de Montes, Jim Morphesis, Peter Plagens, Darren Waterston, and Takako Yamaguchi. Files on Betye Saar and her daughters Alison Saar and Lezley Saar are particularly extensive.

Arrangement

Organized in three series. Series I. Artist files, 1967-2007; Series II. Group exhibitions, 1994-2007; Series III. Administrative files, 1984-2007.
