Overview of the Conference on the Discontinuance of Nuclear Weapon Tests proceedings

In 1961, the Conference on the Discontinuance of Nuclear Weapon Tests was held in Geneva, Switzerland. This conference was a significant gathering of experts from around the world who came together to discuss and negotiate the terms of a nuclear test ban treaty. The sessions were held from March 21-23 and 27-28, 1961. The proceedings of these sessions were compiled and archived at the Hoover Institution Archives at Stanford University, Stanford, California.

The collection contains the proceedings of the 274th-276th and 278th-279th sessions, which include discussions on proposals for a nuclear test ban treaty. The materials are primarily in English and consist of 1 folder (0.1 linear feet).

Access to the collection is open for research. The Hoover Institution Archives only allows access to copies of audiovisual items. To listen to sound recordings or to view videos or films during your visit, please contact the Archives at least two working days before your arrival. Please note that not all audiovisual material is immediately accessible.
