Accruals

Materials may have been added to the collection since this finding aid was prepared. Location of Original Materials

The original documents are located in three Russian archives:

- Russian State Archives of Social and Political History (Rossiiskii gosudarstvennyi arkhiv sotsialno-politicheskoi istorii - RGASPI);
- State Archives of the Russian Federation (Gosudarstvennyi arkhiv Rossiiskoi Federatsii - GARF);
- and
- Russian State Archive of Contemporary History (Rossiiskii gosudarstvennyi arkhiv noveishei istorii - RGANI).

Related Materials

Portions or the entirety of the microfilm collection may be found at the following institutions in addition to the Hoover Institution: The Library of Congress, Grinnell College, Harvard University, John Hopkins University, University of North Carolina Chapel Hill, Ohio University, University of Washington, University of Melbourne Australia, Glasgow University United Kingdom, Bavarian State University, Germany, and Hokkaido University, Japan.

The microfilms containing only the Russian language opisi or finding aids may be found at the following institutions: University of Illinois, Indiana University, Columbia University, and New York University.

Scope and Content of the Microfilm Collection

This collection concerns political conditions in the Soviet Union from 1917 to 1991. The documents come from three Russian archives. Material was selected for microfilming based on two criteria: (1) records of the highest policy-making units of the Communist Party were the priority; and (2) record series were filmed in their entirety, rather than selecting only particular files or documents (except for some of the Gulag material in GARF) Fond R-9414.

To locate material in the collection, it helps to know that archival documents in the former Soviet Union, and later in the Russian Federation, are arranged in record groups according to the institution that issued or received them. These major groups, which sometimes include thousands of documents, are called in Russian fond (plural fondy). Within each fond the documents are generally divided into smaller groups called opisi (singular opis). opisi are generally organized according to the internal structure of the corresponding institution, but sometimes opisi consist of documents relating to one subject. The Russian word opis has two meanings: (1) a series of documents; and (2) a finding aid. Each opis "series of documents" is provided with a descriptive opis "finding aid." Each opis "series of documents" is further organized into files called delo (singular delo) that contain the documents.

Out of a total of 11,818 microfilm reels, 11,349 reels contain documents and 469 contain finding aids to the fondy available at the Hoover Institution, as well as to some fondy available only in Russia. Each reel of microfilm contains approximately 850 pages, or frames.

The microfilm reel numbers consist of two parts separated by a period, for example 3.427. The first numerical segment is a 1, 2, or 3, identifying the Russian archive source; 1 is RGANI, 2 is RGASPI, and 3 is GARF. The second segment, which is sequentially numbered starting with 1, represents a specific microfilm reel number for that Russian archive.

Scope and Content of the RGASPI Records

Materials described in this document are from the Russian State Archives of Social and Political History (Rossiiskii gosudarstvennyi arkhiv sotsialno-politicheskoi istorii - RGASPI). The collection includes materials from congresses and conferences of the RSDRP-VKP(b)-KPSS and records of the TsK KPSS Central Committee for the years 1917-1990.

There are thirty-nine fonds that were microfilmed for the Hoover Institution at the Russian State Archives of Social and Political History. Thirty-eight fonds consist of one (occasionally two) opisi and contain mainly documents relating to the congresses (2nd through 19th; 23rd through 28th) and conferences (5th through 16th) of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union (KPSS) [RSDRP, 1903-1917; RKP(b), 1918-1925; VKP(b), 1925-1952; KPSS, 1952-1990]. There are 2,069 files (on 261 reels) in these 38 fonds. All files were filmed for the Hoover Institution.

Fond 17, The Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union records, 1903-1965, 1971, contains documents related to the activities of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union (Russian Social-Democratic Labor Party in 1989 and 1903-1917, Russian Communist Party (Bolsheviks) in 1918-1925, and All-Union Communist Party (Bolsheviks) in 1925-1952). The listing below has been prepared for 2,457 microfilm reels of Fond 17. The Central Committee was the leading body of the KPSS, its political, theoretical, ideological, and organizational center. It was elected at the party congresses or sometimes at its conferences. While in power, the Central Committee was the main organ supervising the KPSS, the government, and the political and economic life of the Soviet Union. The main organs of the Central Committee were plenums, Bureau of the Central Committee, Political Bureau, Organizational Bureau, and Secretariat. Decisions mandatory for party and governmental institutions were adopted at the meetings of these organs. The Central Committee of the KPSS also had an apparatus in which one part acted in parallel to the leading governmental structures and the other was dealing with interior KPSS problems.

Arrangement

The collection is organized by the name of the Russian archive that holds the original materials. There are three finding aids for the collection, one for each one of the Russian Archives:

- Russian State Archive of Contemporary History (Rossiiskii gosudarstvennyi arkhiv noveishei istorii - RGANI);
- Russian State Archives of Social and Political History (Rossiiskii gosudarstvennyi arkhiv sotsialno-politicheskoi istorii - RGASPI);
- and
- State Archives of the Russian Federation (Gosudarstvennyi arkhiv Rossiiskoi Federatsii - GARF).

Within Russian institutional archive, the materials are organized into two groups: (1) fondy (record groups consisting of documents); and (2) finding aids that describe each fondy. Fondy are usually subdivided into opisi (series of documents); the number of opisi in each fondy varies.

This glossary defines acronyms and names for all three organizations of the microfilming project: the Russian State Archive of Contemporary History (Rossiiskii gosudarstvennyi arkhiv noveishei istorii - RGANI), the Russian State Archives of Social and Political History (Rossiiskii gosudarstvennyi arkhiv sotsialno-politicheskoi istorii - RGASPI), and the State Archives of the Russian Federation (Gosudarstvennyi arkhiv Rossiiskoi Federatsii - GARF).

This register has been prepared for 2,457 microfilm reels of Fond 17, which contains documents related to the activities of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union (Russian Social-Democratic Labor Party in 1903-1917, Russian Communist Party (Bolsheviks) in 1918-1925, and All-Union Communist Party (Bolsheviks) in 1925-1952). The Central Committee was the leading body of the KPSS, its political, theoretical, ideological, and organizational center. It was elected at the party congresses or sometimes at its conferences. While in power, the Central Committee was the main organ supervising the KPSS, the government, and the political and economic life of the Soviet Union. The main organs of the Central Committee were plenums, Bureau of the Central Committee, Political Bureau, Organizational Bureau, and Secretariat. Decisions mandatory for party and governmental institutions were adopted at the meetings of these organs. The Central Committee of the KPSS also had an apparatus in which one part acted in parallel to the leading governmental structures and the other was dealing with interior KPSS problems.

These materials are held in the Russian State Archives of Socio-Political History Rossiiskii gosudarstvennyi arkhiv sotsial'no-politicheskoi istorii (RGASPI). Twelve opisi (out of 158) of fond 17, containing over 11,000 files (dela), were microfilmed for the Hoover Institution.

At RGASPI, opisi 7, 75-77, 79, 86, and 139 are organized according to the institution's internal structure. Documents pertaining to party censuses are organized geographically and alphabetically (opisi 8 and 9). Opis 1 and 109 are ad hoc collections reflecting respectively the struggle of the Bolsheviks against the Menshevik opposition within the RSDRP in 1902-1904, and defense of the Soviet republic in 1918-1924.

This finding aid is arranged by file number (second row of each entry) with reference to the corresponding microfilm reel number (first row). Names of republics are spelled in compliance with American dictionaries. Names of party committees of different levels (raikoms, obkoms, gorkoms, and kraikoms) are transliterated from Russian. The Russian abbreviations for party organs and institutions and for territorial/administrative division of Soviet Russia and/or Soviet Union are used here. They are decoded in the glossary.

Opis 1: Records of the Central Committee of The Russian Social-Democratic Labor Party (1903-1905)Physical Description: 5 reels)Scope and Content Note

Opis 1 contains materials related to the activities of the Central Committee of the Russian Social-Democratic Labor Party (TsK RSDRP) (1898, 1903-1917). The TsK RSDRP was elected during the First Congress of the RSDRP in March 1898, but immediately after the Congress its members were arrested. The Central Committee resumed its activities in August 1903, after the Second RSDRP Congress. Its two organs, underground Russian Bureau and the Émigré Bureau of the TsK RSDRP, led practical work of the TsK RSDRP. Three hundred twenty-one files of opis 1 were microfilmed for the Hoover Institution. These files consist primarily of correspondence carried out by prominent members (both Bolsheviks and Mensheviks) of the Russian Social-Democratic Labor Party in Russia and abroad. The documents reflect the struggle of the Bolsheviks for power over the party and its leading organs in the time between the Second and the Third RSDRP congresses. O. Martov's, and "What Is not to Be Done" by G. V. Plekhanov]
7. Publication, delivery, and distribution of social-democratic literature

The finding aid for opis 1 provides a detailed description of each file. Dates are given according to the Gregorian calendar. Opis 8: Materials of the 1922 All-Union party census and data on the people who were admitted to or resigned from the RKP(b) in 1922-1924

Physical Description: 282 reels)

Scope and Content Note

Opis 8 consists of documents issued by the Statistics Department of the TsK RKP(b): materials of the 1922 All-Union party census and materials reflecting changes in the composition of party membership since the 1922 census through 1924. The All-Union party census was organized and conducted by the Statistics Department from the beginning through the end of 1922. In the process of conducting the census, each RKP(b) member, cell, and committee was registered (forms A, Á, and Ā). In addition, the census provided for registration of the communists discharged from the Red Army and of propagandists. After the registration had been completed, special summaries and surveys were compiled. The census could not claim 100 percent accuracy due to the hard conditions under which it was conducted; nevertheless, it correctly reflected the situation in the party. The 1922 census became a starting point for centralized registration of party members. The opis is divided into the following subseries: personal questionnaires of party members and candidate members; registers of cell members in republics, gubernias, and uezds; registers of party committees; lists of cells subject to the census; surveys reflecting data on preliminary processing of the census results; reports and diaries of special representatives, and of officials responsible for the census in gubernias and uezds; lists of additional party members registered after they were made full members or reinstated as party members; register of candidate members admitted to the RKP(b) in 1922-1924; lists of persons who were expelled or resigned from the RKP(b); materials of the All-Union census of lecturers and propagandists who were members of the RKP(b) (total of 794 files on 290 reels). Personal questionnaires (subseries I) were organized alphabetically by name according to the Russian alphabet. In the hard copy finding aid names are given both in transliterated form and in Cyrillic; however, Cyrillic could not be included into the electronic version. The Russian finding aid provides a geographical index, and can be found on reel 2.16.

I. Questionnaires and other related documents of RKP(b) members and candidate members, presented alphabetically by name in Russian (Form A).

Opis 9: Department of Registration and Statistics.

Physical Description: 1422 reels)

Scope and Content Note

Opis 9 includes personal questionnaires filled out during the 1926-1927 All-Union party census by VKP(b) members and candidate members of all party organizations in the Soviet Union except for party organizations of military units and those of the Communist Party of Ukraine. This opis is divided into subseries. Subseries represent VKP(b) organizations in accordance with administrative/territorial division of the Soviet Union and are organized alphabetically by geographical name. Within each VKP(b) organization, questionnaires are presented in alphabetical (though not always strict) order by last name (in Russian) of member or candidate member. Each file of opis 9 consists of 200-300 pages (totaling 3,758 files on 1,422 reels.) The hard copy finding aid indicates the first and last names on each reel, both in transliterated form and in Cyrillic; however, Cyrillic could not be included into the electronic version. Reels 2.1873, 2.2255, and 2.2674 (files 2029-2032, 2990-2993, and 3583-3586) has not been delivered to the Hoover Institution. The Russian finding provides an index of administrative and territorial divisions with reference to the corresponding file, and can be found on reel 2.16.

Scope and Content Note

The Fourth (Unification) Congress of the RSDRP was held in Stockholm, April 10-25, 1906 (OS). It was attended by 134 delegates. The Bolsheviks had forty-six votes and the Mensheviks -- sixty-two. The agenda of the Congress included discussion of a new program, tactics, and organization drawn from the experience of the first Russian revolution (1905). Agrarian issues, the current political situation, and the proletariat's tasks were discussed at the Congress. Lenin the Bolsheviks promised to continue their ideological struggle against the Mensheviks.

Scope and Content Note

Development of the Third KPSS Program started per resolution of the Twentieth Congress of the KPSS (February 1956). The theoretical and political part of the Program was developed mainly by a working group, established in the summer of 1958 under the aegis of the TsK KPSS International Department. Scholars from different areas of expertise participated in this project. The draft program was placed under the consideration of a joint meeting of the TsK KPSS Presidium and the Program Commission; on June 19, 1961, it was presented for consideration to the TsK KPSS Plenum, and then it was published and opened for public discussion. The Program was adopted by the Twenty Second KPSS Congress in October 1961.
