Ekaterina Murav'eva was the wife of Nikolai Murav'ev, member of a group of progressive lawyers (including Vasilii Maklakov), active in the defense of radical political causes in pre-revolutionary Russia. After the February revolution he was appointed chairman of the committee investigating officials of the Imperial government. Between 1917 and 1922, both he and his wife were active in the Politicheskii Krasnyi Krest (Political Red Cross). In 1923, Ekaterina Murav'eva emigrated to Paris where she lived until her death in 1948. Nikolai Murav'ev remained in the Soviet Union.

Scope and Content
This collection consists mainly of Ekaterina Murav'eva's private correspondence. Of special interest is Ekaterina Murav'eva's correspondence with colleagues and friends from the pre-revolutionary period, both in the emigration and the Soviet Union, including politically prominent figures such as Vera Figner, Ekaterina Kuskova and Vasilii Maklakov and representatives of culture such as the artist Konstantin Somov. Also of interest is the extensive correspondence from Moscow, of her daughter Tatiana Volkova, a literary scholar and author of several works on Leo Tolstoy and his literary circle.
