Historical Note

Thomas Wood (1641-1723), son of Edward Wood (c. 1604-1667), was a grocer in Littleton, now Surrey, England and a committee member of the East India Company.

John Packes was the London agent and business partner to Edward Wood, and later Thomas Wood when he took up the family seat and continued investing in the East India Company after his father's death in 1667. It appears that John Packes resided in Thomas Wood's house in the Bear Key precinct of Tower Ward, off Thames Street in London. He managed and administrated Wood's investments while also keeping him supplied with a constant stream of merchandise, provisions and food and sent it down the Thames by a Bargeman named John Loton.

Scope and Content

The papers consist of four boxes of newsletters written by John Packes to Edward Wood and later to Thomas Wood, with the majority of the letters addressed to the latter. The letters and documents are arranged chronologically and concern Wood's business dealings with the East India Company, as well as the prices of food, wine, medicine and miscellaneous utensils and provisions. The letters include information from the middle of the seventeenth century to the end of the seventeenth century. There are also a few documents and letters from other authors than John Pack scattered throughout the collection.

Please note: Many of the letters are un-addressed. While most of the letters are most likely written to Thomas Wood, several of them are entitled, "To Sir" and labeled accordingly

Arrangement

Arranged chronologically.
