Provenance

Acquired from Sanford and Helen Berger in 1999.

Processing Information

1. The Berger Morris Collection contained several scrapbooks on various artists, which were originally included in the material in the Art Collections; it was then decided to transfer these scrapbooks to the Manuscripts Department. For cataloging purposes the Edward Burne-Jones, William De Morgan, Emery Walker scrapbooks and Simeon Solomon file were disassembled and the manuscripts, correspondence and ephemera were cataloged separately. The original scrapbook location is noted on each folder and in this Finding Aid.

2. Many letters and manuscripts have penciled dates, notations, or notes from original owners or auction sales; these notes were not removed and, in most cases, the information was noted on the front of the folder.

3. Some manuscript materials described in this finding aid were originally laid or pasted in bound volumes in the printed book library component of the Berger Morris Collection. Where possible, these items were removed and cataloged in the manuscript collection, with the original Rare Book Department call number. For each of the items removed the original call number is noted on the front of the folder.

4. The Morris & Co. portfolio indices (Box 19, Folder 1) were originally included in the Sanford L. Berger Papers component of the collection; they were transferred to the William Morris Papers and incorporated in this finding aid in November 2016.

Biographical Note of William Morris

William Morris (1834-1896) was born March 24, 1834, in Walthamstow, then a suburb of London; he attended Marlborough College and in 1852 entered Exeter College, Oxford. He left in 1855, without taking orders, as he originally planned, but instead embarked on a varied career as a poet, visual artist and Socialist. He married Jane Burden, April 26, 1859, and they had two daughters, Jane Alice (Jenny), born in 1861 and Mary (May) in 1862.

William Morris, a man of tremendous energy and creativity, became, over the years, a poet, artist, decorator, manufacturer, printer and lecturer. He helped to begin the Arts & Crafts movement in England, through Morris & Co., and strove to better the lives of the working class through his work with Socialist causes. It was possibly the strain of overwork as he tried to maintain a busy lecture schedule, as well as oversee the Kelmscott Press and other business interests, that caused Morris to become ill in June, 1896. After a lingering illness he died on October 3, 1896, at his home, Kelmscott.
William Morris Papers operated from 1875 until 1940 and was known for its stained glass, wallpaper, pottery, and textile designs. The firm succeeded Morris, Marshall, Faulkner & Co., which had been founded in 1861, when Morris became the sole owner. John Dearle (1860-1932) assumed leadership of the company when he became its Art Director following Morris’s death in 1896. In 1905 the company’s name was changed to Morris & Co. Decorators Ltd.

Biographical Note of Sanford Berger
Sanford Lionel Berger (1919-2000) was an architect and William Morris enthusiast. A University of California at Berkeley and Harvard-trained architect, Berger practiced for 38 years and became a senior vice president for the firm of Stone, Marracini & Patterson in San Francisco, California. Berger's wife Helen was also a Harvard-trained architect.

In the 1960s, the Bergers purchased an almost complete set of books printed by William Morris's Kelmscott Press, thus beginning almost four decades of building a collection of books, manuscripts, textiles, wallpapers, carpets, tapestries, drawings, stained glass, ephemera, and ceramics that during their lifetimes was regarded as the largest private collection of William Morris materials in the United States. Their collection was acquired by the Huntington Library in 1999.

The renown of the Sanford and Helen Berger Collection of William Morris grew steadily over the years, and their residence in Carmel, California, became known as "Kelsmscott Carmel" or "Kelsmscott West."

Berger was active in many bibliophilic societies and organizations and served as a president of the Book Club of California. He enjoyed hobby printing, and operated two small, private presses, the Tunnel Road and the Scenic Road presses, both from his homes of the same addresses.

Bibliography

Scope and Content
This collection contains the archival and manuscript portion of the Sanford and Helen Berger collection and primarily contains manuscripts, correspondence, and ephemera created by or related to 19th century English artist, decorator, poet, and printer William Morris (1834-1896) and his circle. Though this collection is named the William Morris Papers, the Bergers also collected manuscript and printed material related to nineteenth and twentieth century British Pre-Raphaelites, Fine Printing and private presses (Kelsmscott Press and the Doves Press), architects, illustrators, and the Arts & Crafts movement (Morris & Co.).

The William Morris Papers are perhaps unique among the Huntington’s other holdings in that they are an integral part of a much larger collection of stained glass, furniture, tiles, pottery, art work and printed books, making it one of the premier nineteenth century Arts & Crafts collections in the world.

The papers consist of the following series:

1. Manuscripts (Boxes 1-2, Oversize Material Box 19, Folder 1)) are arranged alphabetically by author and title. Included in this series are: a minute book, notes, personal reminiscences, lectures, poems, prose narratives and essays. This series includes manuscripts by many authors, most notably by: Edward Burne-Jones, Sydney C. Cockerell, Walter Crane, John Henry Dearle, William F. De Morgan, Frederick E. Startridge, Alice Macdonald Fleming, William Minto, William Morris, Eden Phillpotts and Charles Canning Winmill.

3. Ephemera and Miscellaneous (Boxes 14-18, Oversize Material Box 19, Folders 2-5) is arranged by subject. It comprises approximately 300 items and includes: photocopies of Account Books and various letters, printed material, material removed from scrapbooks, photographs, clippings, material related to Philip Henderson’s Morris biography and material related to Peter Stansky’s work on The House of Wolfings.
