Abstract: This collection contains approximately 700 World War I propaganda posters and related ephemera dating from approximately 1914 to 1919. The posters were created primarily for government and military agencies, as well as private charities such as the American Committee for Relief in the Near East. While the majority of the collection is American, it also includes British and French posters, and a few Austro-Hungarian/German, Canadian, Belgian, Dutch, Italian, Polish, and Russian items.

Language: English.

Preferred Citation
[Item title, Call number]. World War I Poster and Ephemera Collection. The Huntington Library, San Marino, California.

Provenance
Approximately 106 posters (identified by the call number prefix "priWWI_A") were received as the gift of Charles L. Heartwell in 1938. 21 posters consisting of posters 15, 52, 55, 58, 62, 82, 85A, 85C, 86, 101, 104, 105, 116, and 133 issued by the British Parliamentary Recruiting Committee, and 3 additional English and 4 French posters were received from Bertha Frasher in 1964; priWWI_S_178 was received as the gift of Elizabeth Norris in 2014. The posters "Fight", "2 inspiring cablegrams," and "On the job for victory" were received from Collis H. Holladay, Jr., in 1986.

The provenance of the remaining posters in the collection is primarily unknown, though early Library records broadly indicate that that 48 World War I posters were received as the gift of Beatrice Farrand in 1936; 7 Red Cross posters were received as the gift of Mrs. Charles E. Wright in 1938; 9 posters were received as a gift of F. E. Besse in 1939; 2 posters were received as the gift of Anna B. Dickey in 1944; 23 posters were received from the Edwin F. Gay estate in 1946; a collection of posters was received from Bessie B. Ellis; 19 posters were received as the gift of Mrs. Arthur Ellis in 1948; 3 posters were received as the gift of James B. McNair in 1949; 2 "vols." of posters were received from Colonel R. Cotton in 1953; 35 Liberty posters were received from H. C. Boehme in May 1963; 43 American war posters and 25 French war posters were received from Edwards H. Metcalf in 1965; and 46 posters were received from Mrs. Harriet H. Doerr and Mrs. John McLaren in 1981.

Processing Information
In the 20th century, the World War I poster collection was cataloged on cards for the Prints and Ephemera card catalog by The Huntington Library. No poster could be located for the call number priWWI_A_37 in the card catalog or the physical holdings as of 2014.
B-76, 1830 1930 : Royaume de Belgique centenaire de l'independance nationale, and L-57, Jap you're next! We'll finish the job!, which were originally cataloged as part of this collection, were identified as post-World War I posters and removed from the collection in 2014.

Scope and Content
This collection contains approximately 700 World War I propaganda posters and related ephemera dating from approximately 1914 to 1919. The posters were created primarily for government and military agencies, as well as private charities such as the American Committee for Relief in the Near East. While the majority of the collection is American, it also includes British and French posters, and a few Austro-Hungarian/German, Canadian, Belgian, Dutch, Italian, Polish, and Russian items.

The images and text of the posters reflect various messages chiefly related to military recruitment and enlistment, food and fuel conservation, aid for soldiers and humanitarian causes, war work, and savings and bond programs, including many that promote the Victory Liberty Loan and War Savings Stamp campaigns in the United States. The United States Committee on Public Information, U.S. Department of the Treasury, United States Food Administration, and the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation produced many of the posters.

More than 200 different artists are represented in the collection including James Montgomery Flagg, Charles Dana Gibson, and Edward Penfield in the United States; Francisque Poulbot in France; and Alfred Roller in Austria-Hungary.

The collection includes more than 100 posters donated by Charles L. Heartwell (1869-1941), a banker and civic leader in Long Beach, California, who served in the United States Food Administration during World War I. These posters were acquired by Heartwell in his official capacity as a Food Administrator for Los Angeles County and occasionally reference regional recruiting stations in Long Beach. There are similar regionally focused posters for Connecticut and New York City in the collection.

priWWI_S_29  Read these facts about your American Red Cross: its purpose to care for our soldiers and sailors wherever and whenever that care may be needed to shorten the war by alleviating the suffering and strengthening the morale of our allies. To lay foundations for an enduring peace by extending to our allies a message of practical relief and sympathy; carrying to them an expression of the finest side of American character. An all American, largely volunteer organization - authorized by Congress, headed by President Wilson, its accounts audited by the War Department, enthusiastically endorsed by General Pershing: it is working for your Army - your Navy - your allies - and you.

Gentlemen the United States needs your help! : Be a fighting member of the fireman's army! You are boss of the coal pile and your fight is to save the coal to help the boys "over there." Your work is part of the war work of the country. Everything you save, especially coal, can be used somewhere else, to save and protect lives and preserve liberty. : How you can help : inspect, adjust, and oil carefully. Properly adjusted and smooth running cars save power. Turn off compressors and lights in idle cars. Do not burn lights or run shop and other motors except when necessary. Power used here is utterly thrown away. Keep brakeshoes clear of wheels. there is no worse power thief on the railroad than a dragging brakeshoe. Reduce car shifting to the absolutely necessary movements only. Reduce coal used for heating by keeping shop and car doors shut.

Shoot ships to Germany and help America win -- Schwab : at this shipyard are being built ships to carry to our men "over there" - food, clothing, and the munitions of war. Without these ships our men will not have an equal chance to fight. The building of ships is more than a construction job - it is our chance to win the war. He who gives to his work the best that is in him does his bit as truly as the man who fights. : Delays mean danger. Are you doing your bit? : Are you giving the best that is in you to help your son, brother, or pal who is "over there"?: United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation.

My soldier : "A boy," said the kindly old doctor, as he felt his way down the stair-rail. He put his arm around the shoulder of the man he met at the bottom, and they stood there listening. A small cry carried down to them, so that tears glistened in the man's eyes as he bade the old doctor good-night. "A smart boy," said the teacher, when he got his lesson well. "A wonderful boy," said the maiden, who worshipped him from afar. "My boy," said his country, when the call came-to war! "Our boy," said his mother and father, as they proudly watched him march away to take his part in the great struggle for freedom and humanity. : The American soldier goes forth to fight : back him up with all your might : buy a liberty bond.

2 inspiring cablegrams: chairman Edward N. Hurley cables: "We want you and the boys in the trenches to know that the men in the yards are going the limit to provide in record-breaking time the ships that will carry more Men, Food and Munitions to the intrepid American Expeditionary Forces." General Pershing replies: "The launching of nearly 100 ships on the Fourth of July is the most inspiring news that has come to us. All ranks of the Army in France send their congratulations and heartfelt thanks to their patriotic brothers in the shipyards at home. No more defiant answer could be given to the enemy's challenge. With such backing we cannot fail to win. All hail, American ship-builders." 1918
