Biographical / Historical
The Los Angeles County Medical Association, begun in 1871, is a professional institution designed to regulate and encourage the development of the medicine in Los Angeles. Since then, the organization has established itself as an important institution in the profession. The Association's library quickly became an archive for the medical history of California and an invaluable research resource for physicians.
Scope and Contents
This collection contains approximately 870 publications and printed items, produced by various organizations, related to hospitals, medicine, medical education, and public health, chiefly in Southern California in the 20th century. The materials were compiled as part of the library of the Los Angeles County Medical Association Collection, a professional institution designed to regulate and encourage the development of the medicine in Los Angeles. The bulk of the collection consists of programs for meetings, conventions, and congresses; annual reports for medical societies, hospitals, and medical schools; and doctor, staff, and medical student directories. In addition, there are reprints of speeches and addresses; yearbooks for medical schools; commemorative, biographical, and historical publications; some original historical documents; by-laws and founding documents; and some planning and administrative documents. The materials include items produced by nearly 200 different authors, though many organizations are represented by only a few items. There are over 140 items published by or about the Los Angeles County Medical Association. The collection also contains seven boxes of catalog cards created by the Los Angeles County Medical Association describing the materials in the collection.
1. The Los Angeles County Medical Association Collection consists of 7,000 rare volumes and journals, as well as additional manuscript collections, in the history of medicine. To begin searching this collection, use the subject "Los Angeles County Medical Association Collection" in the Huntington Online Catalog.
2. Minute books of the Los Angeles County Medical Association (mssLACMA minute books)
3. George Dock Papers (mssDock papers)
1. Series I. Printed materials
2. Series II. LACMA shelflist catalog cards
Processing Information
Processed by Jessica O'Pray and Diann Benti in 2015. In 2022, Maggie Hughes added the LACMA shelflist catalog cards in boxes 55-61 to the collection and finding aid.

Printed materials
Physical Description: 22.85 Linear Feet (54 boxes, 4 volumes)
Arrangement
Printed materials are arranged alphabetically according to the body creating, or in some cases, sponsoring the publication. Note, for example, that a study produced by an architectural firm for a hospital will be filed with the hospital, and a biographical sketch will be filed under the subject's name.
Within the container list, each item entry includes the following information: item call number, title and date, number of pages, any applicable notes on the physical extent or content of the item, and the call number previously assigned to the item by the Los Angeles County Medical Association before being transferred to the Huntington Library.
