History
Biography
Captain Harold D. Huycke, Jr. was born on November 22, 1922 in Oklahoma, and became acquainted with west coast shipping history while fishing and working around the Santa Monica pier and Santa Monica Bay fishing barges. He graduated from the California Maritime Academy in 1944 and the University of Southern California in 1947. He went to sea in the Merchant Marine in the Pacific during World War II, and after the war continued to go to sea, rising in rank to chief mate, and obtaining his master's license.

Captain Huycke spent several years in the shipping industry, loading ships as a cargo supervisor from Central American ports to British Columbia and extending to Hawaii. He spent a dozen years at sea from fourth mate to master, including the restoration work of the three-masted schooner C. A. THAYER and serving as bosun on her last coastwise voyage from Puget Sound to San Francisco in 1957. Huycke also participated in the restoration of the wooden steam schooner WAPAMA. Beginning in 1973, he became a marine surveyor. He has written several books on maritime history, including "To Santa Rosalia, Further and Back", a detailed history of a dozen German sailing ships detained in Mexico during the First World War.

Custodial History
The materials were likely donated or loaned for copying to San Francisco Maritime Museum by Harold Huycke, Jr., around 1970. The materials were accessioned into the National Park Service when the museum was made a unit of Golden Gate National Recreation Area and then were transferred to San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park after the establishment of the new park in 1989.

Acquisition
Accession number SAFR-00001.

Administrative Information
Scope and Content
The collection consists of copy negatives concerning Karl Standke and the German merchant fleet detained at Santa Rosalia (Jalisco, Mexico) during the First World War.

In addition, there are various copy negatives, presumably involving Harold Huycke who wrote a history of the vessels and 4 copy negatives showing the "Big Five" dreadnought battleships of the U.S. Navy.

Arrangement
The photographs are organized in three series. The Standke negatives are arranged in his original order within the scrapbook. The remaining copy negatives have no arrangement.
