Historical or Biographical Note
Dudley Wold Thickens (1913-1993) was a life-long resident of the San Ramon Valley and avid photographer of railroads and vessels in the San Francisco Bay area. His vessel photographs are an important documentary record of the activities in the San Francisco Bay, much like the ship traffic records kept by the Marine Exchange of the San Francisco Bay Region.
Dudley Wold Thickens was born on November 10, 1913. After his father passed away in 1917, he came to the Saranap, California area with his mother Emma Wold Thickens and younger sister Virginia E Thickens. Thickens went to the Saranap Elementary School for about five years, completing first through fourth grade and transferred to Walnut Creek school midway through his fifth grade year. He then attended high school at San Ramon High in Danville around 1927 or 1929. From 1932 to 1933, Thickens took a post-graduate course in "commercial subjects" in Concord. While in school, Thickens worked for Mrs. Jennie Bickerstaff Dewing, later known as Mrs. Rosenberg, making $3.00 for a half-day's work doing yard work. Thickens married Louise Odell and they lived in Lafayette where they had three children: Elizabeth (born 1954), John (born 1956), and Richard (born 1958).
Thickens was fascinated by railroads in his youth, particularly the Sacramento Northern Railway. He began photographing railroads in 1932. In 1935 he started working for the Sacramento Northern and he took this opportunity to travel and document the Sacramento Northern operations. In 1940 he transferred to the Western Pacific Railroad Company where he worked in the Freight Traffic Department until his retirement.

Thickens was a founding member of the Bay Area Electric Railroad Association and served in many official positions, including as President in 1950-1951. In June 1950, he co-wrote an article with Ira L. Swett, Arthur L. Lloyd, Vernon J. Sappers, and Addison H. Laflin Jr. titled "Sacramento Northern," in the special issue for the Electric Railway Association of Southern California. In the 1940s Thickens became interested in Pacific Coast shipping and started taking photographs of vessels in the San Francisco Bay and in other locations where he traveled. In 1961, Thickens started a correspondence and friendship with Charles Marshall Loring and they sent each other photographs and information about various vessels until Loring's death in 1973. He was a member of the local chapter of the World Ship Society and wrote many articles for their newsletter INTERCOM and he was also involved in Toastmasters. Dudley Thickens was a life-long resident of the San Ramon Valley and died on May 18, 1993.

Note: In addition, Dudley Thickens is referenced in Train Life, December 1983, as a rail traveling companion of the author Albert C. Phelps. Dudley Thickens has photo credits in East Bay Hills Project and The Western Railway Museum.

Collection Scope and Content
The Dudley Thickens photographs (P06-030, SAFR 22582) consists of approximately 3,450 photographs and 0.4 linear feet of manuscripts concerning vessels in the San Francisco Bay and other locations, along with photographs of lighthouses, transportation, family and other subjects. The documents consist of correspondence between Dudley Thickens and Charles and Ruth Loring.

The collection is predominantly comprised of black-and-white photographs that Dudley Thickens took of vessels in the San Francisco Bay in the 1940s-1970s. Most are American and foreign built merchant vessels. There are also photographs of tug boats, pilot boats, lightships, and government vessels. Most of the collection is made up of black-and-white negatives although there are also some photographic prints. There is a small amount of correspondence between Dudley Thickens and Charles Marshall Loring, 1961-1973 and Dudley Thickens and Ruth Loring, 1973-1975.

Collection Arrangement
Arranged into three series: Vessel photographs; Lighthouse, transportation, family and other photographs; correspondence.

Subseries 1.1. Vessels in the San Francisco Bay and in other locations, 1916-1977 (bulk 1940-1965)

Boxes 1-15

Physical Description: 3355 items (6.5 linear feet)

Scope and Content Note

Contains photographic negatives and prints of American and foreign merchant vessels and government vessels in the San Francisco Bay. Also includes a small amount of photographs of vessels taken in other locations in the United States. While it can be assumed that most of the photographic negatives were taken in the San Francisco Bay, it was only listed in the summary note area of the finding aid if we were able to confirm this through the annotations on the original envelopes or visually from background details in the image. The San Francisco Bay area locations in these photographs include: Alameda; Antioch; Broadway wharf; Carquinez Straits; Golden Gate Bridge; Hunter's Point; Lafayette; Mare Island; Martinez; Oakland; Oakland Army Base; Port of Oakland; Port of San Francisco; San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge; Sausalito; Stockton; Vallejo.

Places outside of the Bay Area are:

United States: California: Jamestown; Long Beach; San Diego; San Pedro; Terminal Island (San Pedro); Trinidad Head Florida: Gulf Stream off of Fort Lauderdale; Miami; Port Everglade Illinois: Chicago Maryland: St. Michaels; Tilghman Island Michigan: Ludington New York: Bear Mountain; Brooklyn; Hudson Oregon: Astoria; Coos Bay; Newport; Port Orford Washington: Ocean Shores; Port Angeles; Puget Sound; Seattle; Tacoma Wisconsin: Manitowoc

Foreign: Canada: Nanaimo, British Columbia; Vancouver, British Columbia; Victoria, British Columbia; St. John's, Newfoundland

Florida: Gulf Stream off of Fort Lauderdale; Miami; Port Everglade

Illinois: Chicago

Maryland: St. Michaels; Tilghman Island

Michigan: Ludington

New York: Bear Mountain; Brooklyn; Hudson

Oregon: Astoria; Coos Bay; Newport; Port Orford

Washington: Ocean Shores; Port Angeles; Puget Sound; Seattle; Tacoma

Wisconsin: Manitowoc

The photographic negatives were taken by Dudley Thickens and most of the photographic prints are reproductions from other sources. Some of the original envelopes for the negatives had "L.S." written on the corner; we do not know what this means but it was added to the summary note of the finding aid when present. Some of the photographic prints were sent to Dudley Thickens by Charles Loring. Charles Loring acquired many of the prints by having copies made at archives and historical societies but some prints are original.

Arrangement

Arranged into three subseries: Vessels in the San Francisco Bay and in other locations; Ship Lines; Fishing Boats, Foreign Navy Vessels and United States Government Vessels. The subseries reflect the original groupings created by Dudley Thickens. Some vessel names on the original envelopes were incorrect and have been rectified during processing. Originally, some photographs were out of alphabetic order within the boxes and this has been corrected. There were some negatives grouped together in a miscellaneous section that did not have any commonalities and they have been integrated into subseries 1.1, file unit 1 (ships organized alphabetically by name).

File Unit 1.3.3.1. Troopships used during World War II, 1946-1962
Physical Description: .
Scope and Content Note
Troopships were operated by the Army Transportation Service, with "civilian" mariners; by the U.S. Navy; and the War Shipping Administration. Troopships included passenger liners, Liberty and Victory ships, and foreign ships taken over by the United States. Beginning in June 1941, the U.S. took over various foreign flag ships which were in U.S. ports for use as troopships and cargo ships. These were French, Dutch, Danish, Swedish, Norwegian, German, and Italian flag ships. In addition many British-flag troopships carried Americans overseas.

Series 3. Correspondence, 1918-1975 (bulk 1961-1975)

Physical Description: 2 boxes (0.4 linear feet of manuscripts and 73 photographs)

Scope and Content Note
The correspondence is primarily about the exchange of vessel information between Charles Loring and Dudley Thickens. They discussed specific vessel data such as built date, size of vessel, etc. but they also discussed how the vessels fit into different aspects of maritime history. They sent each other photographs, articles and newsletters and also spoke briefly about their families and what was going on in their lives. The correspondence between Ruth Loring and Dudley Thickens starts around the time of Charles Loring’s death and is primarily about some books that Ruth gave to Dudley and a mutual misunderstanding about whether or not the books were to have been paid for and for how much. The letter from Ernie Plant was sent with some vessel negatives which have been housed separately and described in series 1.

Arrangement
In original order. All correspondence is filed in reverse chronological order and incoming correspondence and copies of outgoing correspondence are filed together. Also includes several lists with vessel data (date built, measurements, etc.) which have been left in place with the correspondence. Photographic prints that Loring sent to Thickens have been housed separately and described in File Unit 2. Some of the items that Loring mentions that he sent to Thickens in the correspondence were not received in this collection (e.g. some photos, issues of the Sea Letter, etc.)
In August 1961 Dudley Thickens wrote a letter to Charles Marshall Loring because he had enjoyed reading Loring's articles in the Knave section of the Oakland Tribune and wondered if Loring could supply him with additional information about the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the White Flyer Line. This was the start of a long correspondence and friendship surrounding the exchange of information and photographs of vessels (predominantly shipping vessels and ship lines). Per a letter of August 26, 1965, Dudley says that while he is interested in the history or lives of the vessels at present, he realizes that Loring's interest is in the construction and power of the ships per Loring's years of work in that field.

Charles Marshall Loring was born January 13, 1899 to Charles A. Loring and Jane Marshall Loring. He had two younger brothers named Filson and Robert and their family lived in Alameda. From 1917-1921 Loring studied at the University of California, Berkeley. Charles Loring's wife was named Ruth and they had two sons. Loring was a maritime historian and in his own words was "vitally concerned with the preservation of the history" of the Alaska Packers Association fleet. He compiled the data so it could be preserved by institutions dedicated to preserving the maritime history of the United States. Loring regularly contributed articles about the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to the "Knave" column in the Oakland Tribune in the late 1950s. The "Knave" was begun during the 1930s and was dedicated principally to California local history. In 1961 Dudley Thickens wrote to Charles Loring because Thickens wanted to reactivate a branch of the World Ship Society along with several other members and they endeavored to create a mimeographed publication from time to time. This was the start of their decade long correspondence and friendship which revolved around the exchange of maritime data and photographs. Charles Marshall Loring died June 17, 1973 in Napa, California.
