Related Materials
Included with the Guermonprez Papers was a folder of materials relating to the organization of the posthumous exhibition of Trude Guermonprez tapestries held at the Oakland Museum of California in 1982. This file will eventually be accessioned as part of the Oakland Museum archives, but remains housed with the Guermonprez collection temporarily.

Additional information about Guermonprez and her art can be found in the California Design Collection held at the Oakland Museum of California. California Design was a triennial exhibition of the decorative arts and crafts, active during the years 1955 to 1984. Guermonprez participated in California Design Exhibitions 8 and 9, held in 1962 and 1965 respectively.

Separated Materials
The book, Research in the Crafts (American Craftsman Council, ca. 1963), which is a proceedings of the Fourth National Conference of the ACC in 1961, is shelved with other books in the Library collection. It is not included in this collection and has been cataloged separately.

Biographical Notes
Trude Guermonprez was born Gertrud Jalowetz in 1910 to Austrian parents in Danzig, Germany. Both parents were involved in the arts and Guermonprez described her childhood home as a place where all forms of art were an integral part of life.

As a student at the School of Fine and Applied Arts in Halle-Saale, Germany—noted for the many Bauhaus-trained artists on its faculty—Guermonprez began textile studies and soon discovered a special affinity for weaving. After receiving her Diploma of Arts in 1933 and then completing further studies at the Textile Engineering School in Berlin, she accepted a position at the Dutch handweaving production studio, Het Paapje. From 1934-1947, she created rugs, upholstery fabrics, and other custom textiles for Het Paapje. During this period she married a young photographer, Paul Guermonprez, who later died during the war.

Her family immigrated to the United States in 1933 and settled in North Carolina where both parents taught at the innovative Black Mountain College. Following the death of her father in 1947, Guermonprez joined her mother and sister and also began to teach at Black Mountain, at the invitation of Josef and Anni Albers. In 1949 she was invited to teach at the Pond Farm Workshops in Guerneville, California, a Bauhaus-inspired school and artist community founded by Marguerite Wildenhain, a potter and former teacher at the School of Fine and Applied Arts in Halle-Saale.

In 1951 Guermonprez married John Elsesser, a San Francisco builder-craftsman whom she met while at the Pond Farm Workshops. They settled in San Francisco and Guermonprez taught part-time at local art schools such as the California School of Fine Arts (now the San Francisco Art Institute) and the California College of Arts and Crafts (now California College of the Arts) in Oakland.

In the 1950’s, Guermonprez began a period of great activity that combined both weaving and teaching, and which would last for the next two decades until her death in 1976. She was a gifted teacher who has been cited as a formative influence. on such contemporary fiber artists as Barbara Shawcroft and Kay Sekimachi Stockdale. She joined the faculty of CCAC full-time in 1954 and served as the Chair of the Crafts Department from 1960-1976. She was frequently invited to give public lectures and workshops and her lecture notes from this period illuminate her views on teaching the creative process, particularly through the discipline of weaving.

She continued to produce custom textiles, such as rugs, upholstery fabrics, tapestries, “space hangings,” and also to design prototypes for industrial manufacture. She frequently collaborated with architects to create special textiles for building interiors. Her art and craft continued to develop and she regularly experimented with new techniques and materials. Some of her later works, for example, weave text into the fabric or create painted tapestries, which she called “textile graphics,” using personal imagery.

The American Institute of Architects awarded the Craftsmanship Medal to Guermonprez in 1970. She was made Fellow of the Collegium of Craftsmen, American Crafts Council, in 1975. Trude Guermonprez died in 1976, in San Francisco, California.

1910 Born Gertrud E. Jalowetz in Danzig (then Germany) to Austrian parents.

1960-1976 Served as Chair of Crafts Department, CCAC.
1961-1965 Produced series of works referred to as “space hangings” - three-dimensional structures that depart from traditional tapestry weaving (e.g., “Arachne,” 1963).
1966-1969 Completed Notes to John (1966) and Birth of Round (1968-69) which experimented with incorporating text and symbols into the woven fabric.
1968 Commissioned to weave Sanctuary curtain for Temple Beth Am, Los Altos.
1970 Awarded the Craftsmanship Medal by the American Institute of Architects.
1975 Began work on first of the “textile graphics,” combining poetry and personal imagery.
1976 Fellow, Collegium of Craftsmen, American Crafts Council.
1976 Guermonprez died, San Francisco, California.

Series II: Professional Writings, 1949-1974
Physical Description: 6 folders
Scope and Content Note
This series includes draft and final manuscripts of public lectures given during regional and national crafts conferences, talks presented to weaving guilds and university classes, and articles written for publication. The writings are in English and some of the drafts are handwritten. In these lectures Guermonprez often discusses the tension that is created between the artistic imagination and the limitations imposed by the medium. Many of the lectures also discuss her approach to teaching. The series includes short artist statements about her own work and writings about the work of other weavers, the latter often issued as statements from a jury panel. Each subseries is organized chronologically, where possible.
