Immediate Source of Acquisition

City of Sacramento, Police Department

Biographical / Historical

The Sacramento Police Department began in 1849 with the appointment of Marshall N.C. Cunningham and two deputies to patrol the city grid. It has since grown to include a police chief, more than 1,000 officers and other personnel, and six jurisdictions.

Arrangement

The collection is arranged into 5 series:

- Series 1, Mug books, 1860-1949
- Series 2, Jail registers and other logbooks, 1867-1973
- Series 3, Administrative material, 1919-1993
- Series 4, Photographs, 1894-1988
- Series 5, Artifacts, ca. 1940-1995

Scope and Contents

The Sacramento Police Department Collection contains a wide range of material dating from 1860 to 1993, spanning most of the department's history. The majority of the collection is made up of mug books that date from 1860 to 1949 and jail registers that date from 1867 to 1973. The rest of the collection consists of other logbooks, various administrative records, and photographs. More than half of the photographs are portraits or group shots of the police force that date from the first half of the 20th century.

Series 1, Mug books, 1860-1949. This series contains mug books created by the SPD from 1860 to 1949. The books vary in the information they contain beyond the arrestees' photographs, but common data includes names and aliases, physical descriptions, crimes committed, criminal histories, judgments, and death dates. While most of the books are arranged by arrest number and date, several books are dedicated to specific crimes, including safe-cracking, forgery, and pickpocketing, and specific categories of people, including political dissidents, union members, juvenile offenders, female offenders, and various ethnic groups. One book is simply labeled "Degenerates." There is a separate index called the City Gallery Index for most of the mug books that date from 1860 to 1921. This series also includes books of wanted bulletins from around the country that date from 1899 to 1932, plus a folder of loose wanted bulletins, and bulletins mounted on two masonite boards. There is a separate index for some of the wanted books that date from 1910 to 1922. Additionally, this series includes copies of other West Coast police departments and prisons' mug books that date from 1902 to 1934. SPD Captain Max P. Fisher, a leader in police identification techniques, was instrumental in the hand-copying of mug books from other cities and prisons in order to create a criminal card file database. Copied mug books are from San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, San Jose, Stockton, Long Beach, Denver, Portland, Tacoma, and Carson City, and Folsom and San Quentin state prisons. There also are indexes for some of the San Francisco, San Diego, and Oakland mug books. This series is arranged chronologically.

Series 2, Jail registers and other logbooks, 1867-1973. This series is made up of jail registers and other logs created by the SPD. The majority of volumes consist of Sacramento city jail registers dating from 1867 to 1970 (plus the register from April to July 1973). Registers include the prisoner's name, charge, date of arrest, and bond or deposit amount, the actions taken, and the name of the arresting officer. Other volumes include records of arrest from 1956, arrest number assignment logs from 1917 to 1923, insane commitments from 1927 to 1950, evidence records from 1933 to 1962, and the desk sergeant's daily record book from 1937 to 1938. Also included is a San Francisco jail register index from 1939 to 1946, but CSH does not have the corresponding registers in its collection. This series is arranged alphabetically.

Series 3, Administrative material, 1919-1993. This series consists of a variety of administrative records collected or created by the police department. These include material like police training manuals and handbooks; a large run of Speak Out memos, which was a program that gave police personnel the opportunity to provide ideas and feedback in order to improve communication and processes within the department; citizens committee reports on police practices; James Babcock's original artwork from 1970s Sacramento Bee police-related cartoons; 1920s city ordinance books and police department rules and regulations; American Parkway emergency access maps; department restructuring project materials; and other items. Of note in this series are records from World War II that document the SPD's impounding of "alien enemy" cameras, radios, and firearms by order of the U.S. Department of Justice at the outbreak of the war. Almost all of the impounds are from people of Japanese descent. Records include property receipt books, letters from the property owners asking for their items back at the end of the war, and correspondence between those individuals, the SPD, and the federal government. The records show that after the war it was difficult for people to recover their belongings even with a receipt because the SPD was not immediately authorized to return them and eventually turned all the property over to the federal government. The correspondence shows Sacramento Chief of Police Alex K. McAllister's frustration with the federal government's handling of the situation. This series also includes two videotapes: one showing footage of the Rooney facility groundbreaking ceremony and a police and firemen's mass, and one showing the police chief at a city council meeting on assault weapons. This series is arranged alphabetically.

Series 4, Photographs, 1894-1988. This series is made up of a range of photographs taken of or by the SPD. The majority are portraits of police chiefs and members of the force from 1895 to 1974. There are several collages of police force portraits dating from between circa 1915 and 1924 (some of these collages have been deconstructed for preservation purposes), and a panoramic group shot from circa 1919. Also included are Baconbombers Pig Bowl team photos, a photo of the circa 1925 police baseball team, FBI National Academy class pictures from circa 1940 to 1960, and photos of police officers in action taken for marketing purposes. This series is arranged alphabetically.

Series 5, Artifacts, ca. 1940-1995. The collection contains artifacts, which have not been formally cataloged, but have been listed in an inventory. Artifacts include around thirty-two uniform pieces, three hats, one helmet, eight badges, eleven bars and pins, four protective vests, nine batons and other weapons, a gas mask, leg irons, handcuffs, epaulets, and a fingerprint camera.

Related Materials

CSH also has mug and wanted books from the Sacramento County Sheriff's Department (1979/080/036 and 1977/078/001-003) and an additional Folsom Prison mug book (1982/054/001).

Physical Description: 1 Volumes

SP SV 47:G:04

General

This index is labeled "Negro, Etc. Index" on the cover and "Negro Index" on the inside of the first page. The second page has "Card index started July 1st, 1921" handwritten on it. The book includes names and corresponding numbers, and book and page numbers. The names and numbers also sometimes include a city, aliases, and other details about the person and their criminal past. Many of the names also include an ethnic or race designation (often an ethnic slur is used). People of all races and ethnicities are included in the book, not just African Americans. It is not clear what books this index refers to, but it is assumed to be some of the police department mug books.

Wanted book index Accession # 1995/013/128 ca. 1922

Physical Description: 1 Volumes

SP SV 47:G:04

General

This is an index for SPD wanted books from at least 1910-1922. Included are wanted persons' names with the name of the wanted book they're listed in along with the page number and another unidentified number. Only four wanted books in the collection can be matched to this index:

Sacramento Police Department high-finance wanted bulletins, 1910-1917 (1995/013/113). Listed in index as Hi1 or HiFi1.

Sacramento Police Department high-finance wanted bulletins, 1918-1922 (1995/013/117). Listed in index as Hi2 or HiFi2.

Sacramento Police Department wanted bulletins for escaped prisoners, 1912-1915 (1995/013/115). Listed in index as Esc1.

Sacramento Police Department wanted bulletins for escaped prisoners, 1915-1917(1995/013/115a). Listed in index as Esc2.

The other books listed in the index cannot be definitively matched to the other wanted books in the collection.

Books in the index are labeled with abbreviations for Forgery, Parole Violation, Burglarly, Escape, and High-Finance Crimes. There are also books labeled "Oak," "LosA," "X," and "Y." It is unclear what books those reference.

"Index, Criminals, Wanted" is written on the cover of this index, and both "Index commenced Jan. 21, 1909" and "Card index started July 1, 1921" are written on the second page.
