Organizational History

Santa Clara University was founded in 1851 by the Society of Jesus as Santa Clara College and is California's oldest operating institution of higher learning. It was established on the grounds of Mission Santa Clara de Asis, the eighth of the original 21 California missions. The college originally operated as a preparatory school and did not offer courses of collegiate rank until 1853. The institution became known as the University of Santa Clara in 1912, when the schools of engineering and law were added. For 110 years, Santa Clara University was an all-male school. In 1961, women were accepted as undergraduates and Santa Clara University became the first coeducational Catholic university in California. The number of students and faculty tripled over the next decade and the university began the largest building program in school history with eight residence halls, a student union, and an athletic stadium. In the early 1970s, the Board of Trustees voted to limit the size of the undergraduate population, an action that was intended to preserve the character and ensure the quality of the university for generations to come. In 1985, the university adopted Santa Clara University as its official name. Bibliography: Santa Clara University. Scope and Content of the Collection

The Santa Clara University Artifact Collection consists of 573 items spanning a broad range of formats. Each of the series in the collection attests to an important aspect of the university's history and identity. Aspects of university life documented in the collection include its participation in intercollegiate athletics, its commitment to academic excellence, the Catholic identity of the university, and the presence of Mission Santa Clara on campus.

The types of materials found in the collection include artifacts, ephemera, textiles, memorabilia, art works and archeological materials. Particular coverage is given to items commemorating important events in university history such as the reroute of the Alameda in 1986 and the 150th anniversary of the university in 2001.

Refer to individual series notes for detailed descriptions of the contents.

Series II. Athletics Materials, 1849-2001, & undatedPhysical Description: 22 linear feet, 15 boxesScope and Content

This series documents the history of Santa Clara University's Athletics program through various artifacts, clothing and ephemera. The bulk of materials in this series originated from the university's Athletics Department. Many items relate to SCU's Division I team sports. The series also includes a limited number of artifacts and memorabilia related to sporting events sponsored by other departments within the university.

The types of materials in this series include objects that testify to Santa Clara's participation in tournaments at the state and national level such as ribbons, plaques, and pins. The series includes fan memorabilia such as pennants, a noisemaker and various clothing patches with the SCU logo and Bronco mascot. In addition to artifacts, the series includes ephemera such as field passes, tickets, ribbons, postcards and schedule cards.

The series contains items related to Santa Clara's football team, the Broncos, which existed from 1896-1992. The team played in three major bowl games: the Sugar Bowl (1937, 1938) and the Orange Bowl (1950). Of note are footballs used during the championship games and other commemorative material.

Arrangement

This series is arranged by format.

Series VII. Mission Santa Clara, c. 1677-1999, & undated

Physical Description: 5.75 linear feet, 5 boxes

Scope and Content

This series consists of objects related to Mission Santa Clara. Founded in 1777 by the Franciscan order, Mission Santa Clara was the 8th mission established in California. It is named after St. Clare of Assisi, who was a follower of St. Francis of Assisi and the founder of the order of the Poor Clares. Mission Santa Clara is the only mission located on a university campus.

The bulk of the items in this series consist of collectible objects made in the late 20th-early 21st century, which feature a likeness of the mission church. These include Christmas tree ornaments, a beer stein, a coaster set, drinking glasses, and a collector's plate. The series also contains a limited number of objects that originated at Mission Santa Clara, such as an iron key reputedly used for the third mission church.

Arrangement

This series is arranged by format and size of the objects.

Related Material

Additional artifacts related to Mission Santa Clara can be found in Series X. Building Markers and Materials.

Archival material documenting life at the mission can be found in the Mission Santa Clara Manuscript Collection and the Mission Santa Clara Map Collection.

Series VIII. Religious Materials, 1830-1968, & undated

Physical Description: 11.31 linear feet, 9 boxes

Scope and Content

This series documents the Catholic heritage of Santa Clara University through various artifacts and ephemera. Santa Clara University has maintained a strong Catholic Jesuit identity ever since its founding by the Jesuit order in 1851. Many of the items in this series demonstrate a devotion to saints associated with the Jesuit order, such as St. Ignatius Loyola and St. Francis Xavier.

This series contains 106 items. The bulk of the materials in this series are personal devotional items such as medals, rosaries, crucifixes and scapulars. The series also includes devotional ephemera such as prayer cards.

The series includes relics of various saints, which were likely collected by Jesuits associated with the university while on pilgrimages in Europe.

Several examples of liturgical items can be found in this series. Among these are a small ciborium and an oil stock, which were likely used by priests who traveled to locations outside the church to perform various religious rites.

Included in this series are several items that formed the "St. Clare Collection." Among these are two medallions, a small statue and a ceramic plate featuring the likeness of St. Clare.

Series X. Building Markers and Materials, c. 1870-1964, & undated

Physical Description: 27.48 linear feet, 19 boxes and one oversize item

Scope and Content

This series documents the existence of historic buildings and places at the university through plaques, markers and building materials. The series is composed of 40 items. The bulk of the materials in this series are plaques honoring donors who funded the building of the Orradre Library built in 1964.

Several examples of plaques and markers that were used to designate the location of historic sites such as the third site of Mission Santa Clara and a tree planted by Fr. Magin Catala, O.F.M, can be found in this series. There is also a quantity of materials that were used to build Varsi Auditorium (also known as 'The Ship') and one or more iterations of the mission church. These include floor tiles, roof tiles, bricks and nails.
