Processing Information
Processed by Eva Martinez in 2015.
Acquisition
The Data Center Records were received from Leon Sompolinsky, June 23, 1998, accession number 1998/0062. These materials reflect the portion of the Data Center Records related to labor topics in California; the remainder of their records were donated to The Bancroft Library at UC, Berkeley.
Arrangement
Administrative History
The Data Center (Oakland, Calif.) was founded in 1977 by Jon Frappier, Fred Goff, Loretta and Harry Strharsky and forty activist, organizer and student volunteers in affiliation with the North American Congress on Latin America (NACLA) as an activist library and publication center. Its mission was "to address the political economy and the injustice of class inequities worldwide, and to provide actionable information to those in frontline organizations engaged in those struggles for justice."
Scope and Contents
Consists of materials relating to California and Bay Area labor, predominately newspaper clippings and other print sources, the bulk dating from 1965-1990. Topics include the United Farm Workers, Union W.A.G.E.; the Bay Area Progressive Labor Party; San Francisco neighborhood activism; and socialism. The collection also contains the papers of community activist and campaigner against San Francisco Mission redevelopment Sharon Gold, 1966-1968, which were donated with the collection.
