Scope and Contents
The Kempton Family Collection contains correspondence and printed material relating to World War II from Grace Arrington Kempton and her husband Willett Main Kempton, both of whom were journalists involved with morale and propaganda efforts.

Willet Kempton was Grace's journalism instructor at the University of Georgia. They were married in 1939 and Grace Kempton began writing a column for Southern newspapers. In 1942 she started working with the Army Public Relations Office. The following year, Grace enlisted in the Women's Army Corps, working in the Pentagon for the Bureau of Public Relations' Morale Services. There she managed information about the WACs and published articles in magazines such as Yank and Overseas Woman.

During the war, Willet Kempton was Department Director of Information for the Office for Emergency Management, which later transitioned to the Office of War Information. Willet wrote the syndicated “Home Front” and “Answers to Your War Questions” columns, as well as tracking and reviewing other war news. In 1943 he was in charge of radio relations for the agency. In this capacity, Kempton was involved with the United Nations conference in San Francisco in 1945. He later taught at American University, eventually becoming chair of the Department of Communications.

The collection contains correspondence, memoranda, notes, typescripts, press releases and drafts of articles, as well as many newspapers and clippings, including camp newsletters and other publications with limited distribution.

There are also related materials from family members Judson Kempton (who served as a medic in England in the late 1930s) and Homer Arrington (who served as a navigator in the Air Force in Europe during World War Two). Also included is a genealogy chart prepared by John Houston Kempton (son of Willet and Grace Kempton).

Processing Information
Collection has been minimally processed with a folder listing only. No physical rearrangement or preservation has been performed. Some folders contain fragile and damaged material. Some of the more egregiously damaged material was photocopied for preservation.
