Apports ARCH-AM-00-359

Scope and Contents note
The collection includes apports that appeared during seances in which Thomas Welton Stanford participated during the years he was involved in, and was a leading figure in, the spiritualist movement in Australia. Among the variety of items included are slates which were supposedly written on by the "spirits" brought to the seances by the medium (of special interest is the slate containing a message from Leland Stanford, Jr. to his uncle, Thomas Welton). Also included are various pieces of papyrus, seeds, rocks, a Roman lamp, arrowheads, sharks' teeth, pottery fragments, a tortoise shell, and miscellaneous objects. The dates when the apports were conjured up is unknown.

Seeds; Arrowhead; Sharks' teeth; Tile & Pottery Fragments; Rocks
Slates (12), with messages written on them
