Abstract: Robert H. Power, restaurateur and historian, authored Drake's Landing in California: a Case for San Francisco Bay (1973) and Francis Drake & San Francisco Bay: a Beginning of the British Empire (1974). The collection contains correspondence, commission work notes, exhibits, newspapers and magazine articles, publications and speeches, and research project notes related to Power's interest in Francis Drake and the San Francisco Bay.

Researchers should contact Special Collections to request collections, as many are stored offsite.

Biography

Robert Harbison Power (April 19, 1926-May 13, 1991) was a general partner in the Nut Tree restaurant which was founded by his parents in 1921 in Vacaville, California. A historian, he authored Drake's Landing in California: a Case for San Francisco Bay (1973) and Francis Drake & San Francisco Bay: a Beginning of the British Empire (1974), among other works.

Scope and Contents

The collection contains correspondence, commission work notes, exhibits, newspapers and magazine articles, publications and speeches, research project notes, memorabilia, and maps related to Power's interest in Francis Drake and the San Francisco Bay.

Access

Collection is open for research.

Processing Information

This finding aid was originally produced from a print finding aid. Sara Gunasekara was assisted in the encoding of this finding aid by student employee Michelle Xie.

After a major addition to the collection in 2017, Liz Phillips and student assistant Julie Jeon reprocessed the collection into its current form.

Immediate Source of Acquisition

Gift of the Margaret and Robert Power Estate.
