Abstract: Jancis Robinson (1950-present), OBE MW, is a British wine writer, journalist, and television presenter. Her papers include tasting notes from commercial and trade tastings, wine festivals, and informal occasions. The collection also includes a clipping books and clipping files containing copies of Jancis Robinson's articles, articles about Ms. Robinson and her work, and publications edited by Ms. Robinson. Ms. Robinson's television work is documented through press clippings and videocassettes of selected programs, including "Matters of Taste", "The Wine Programme", "Vintner's Tales", "Jancis Robinson's Wine Course", and "Taste with Jancis Robinson". Photographs in the collection include formal publicity photographs, posed and informal photographs from award events and tastings, and photographs taken during filming of television programs. The collection also includes a small amount of personal and professional correspondence, a selection of books authored by Jancis Robinson, and a number of award medals.

Researchers should contact Special Collections to request collections, as many are stored offsite.

Biography

Jancis Robinson (1950-present), OBE MW, is a British wine writer, journalist, and television presenter. Ms. Robinson is the author of twenty-nine books and hundreds of articles. Among her books are The 24-Hour Wine Expert (2016), How to Taste/Jancis Robinson's Wine Tasting Workbook (2002 and 2008), Tasting Pleasure/Confessions of a Wine Lover (1997), Jancis Robinson's Wine Course (1995 and 2003), Vines, Grapes & Wines (1986), Masterglass (1983), and The Wine Book (1979). She is editor of The Oxford Companion to Wine, co-author with Hugh Johnson of The World Atlas of Wine, and co-author of Wine Grapes: A complete guide to 1,368 vine varieties, including their origins and flavours. Her television work includes, among others, "The Wine Programme" (1983-1986), which was the world's first television series about wine; "Matters of Taste" (1988 and 1991); "Vintners' Tales" (1992 and 1998); "Jancis Robinson's Wine Course" (1995, with accompanying book); and "Taste with Jancis Robinson" (1999).

Jancis Robinson studied Maths and Philosophy at Oxford University from 1968-1971. In the following years, she worked in marketing for Thomson Holidays and subsequently spent a year in Provence. In 1975, Ms. Robinson returned to London and became assistant editor of Wine & Spirit, later serving as editor from 1976-1980. She was wine correspondent to The Sunday Times of London from 1980-1986, a columnist at Wine Spectator from 1989-1995, and has been wine correspondent for the Financial Times since 1990. She was also wine consultant for British Airways from 1995-2010. In 2000, JancisRobinson.com was launched as an online home for wine news and reviews. The site is updated daily with tasting notes, articles, and reviews written by Ms. Robinson and a team of authors.

Ms. Robinson is the recipient of dozens of accolades and awards, including high honors from France, Germany, Portugal, and Spain, and was the first person outside the wine trade to earn the title Master of Wine. In 2003, Jancis Robinson was made Officer of the Order of the British Empire and from 2004 to the present has been a Member of the Royal Household Wine Committee advising on the Queen's cellar. Ms. Robinson is married to food writer and restaurateur Nick Lander, the former owner of L'Escargot.

Scope and Contents

The largest portion of the Jancis Robinson Papers on Wine Writing is Ms. Robinson's collected tasting notes. These come in the form of notebooks and journals from travel, tours, events, and informal occasions, and in the form of loose leaf notes. The latter are accompanied by associated background information and marketing literature from commercial and trade tastings, wine festivals, wine merchants, and wine clubs.

The collection also includes a large set of clipping books and clipping files containing copies of Jancis Robinson's articles, articles about Ms. Robinson and her work, and publications edited by Ms. Robinson. Additionally, there are two clipping books related to L'Escargot restaurant, formerly owned by Nick Lander, Jancis Robinson's husband.

Ms. Robinson's television work is documented through press clippings and videocassettes of selected programs. "Matters of Taste", "The Wine Programme", "Vintner's Tales", "Jancis Robinson's Wine Course", and "Taste with Jancis Robinson" are all represented in the collection. Photographs in the collection include formal publicity photographs, posed and informal photographs from award events and tastings, and photographs taken during filming of television programs.

The collection also includes a small amount of personal and professional correspondence, a selection of books authored by Jancis Robinson, and a number of award medals.

Arrangement

The Jancis Robinson Papers on Wine Writing are arranged in seven series: 1. Correspondence and Events; 2. Tasting Notes; 3. Publications and Publicity; 4. Television Work; 5. Books; 6. Photographs; and 7. Medals.

Access

Collection is open for research.

Series 2 Tasting Notes 1975-2014Physical Description: 16.6 linear feetScope and Contents

The tasting notes in this collection are brief impressions recorded by Ms. Robinson for her own use. Many of the entries have a directional arrow denoting the point in the bottle's lifecycle: an upward-pointing arrow for "will improve", a horizontal arrow for "good", and a downward-pointing arrow for "going past".

Wines are given a number on the 20-point scale outlined at JancisRobinson.com: <http://www.jancisrobinson.com/how-we-score>. (Accessed 24 April 2017). Briefly, a wine marked "20" is considered "truly exceptional", one marked "15" is "average", and one marked "12" is "faulty or unbalanced".

Many of the abbreviations Ms. Robinson uses in her tasting notes are also listed at JancisRobinson.com. Some common abbreviations:

GD: good

LT: light

OPP: opposite

QG: quite good

SL: slight

TA: total acidity

VA: volatile acidity

VG: very good

W: with

Ms. Robinson kindly transcribed a sample page of tasting notes, which is located in Box 5, Folder 2 along with the 1991 Bollinger Desk Diary.

The Tasting Notes series is arranged in two subseries: Series 2.1, Tasting Notebooks; and Subseries 2.2, Loose Leaf Tasting Notes.
