Abstract: This artificial collection comprises photocopied newspaper and magazine clippings from Orange County newspapers and magazines from the early 1900s through the 1990s. Clippings are organized in three groupings: biographical information about notable people; information about city news and significant regional events; and topical items of regional interest, including business, labor, industry, city planning, real estate, construction, crime, recreation, book and newspaper publishing, native flora, fauna, archeological projects, and natural landmarks. Topical clippings also provide wide-ranging information on the diverse communities of Orange County and they include articles on regional history by ten prominent local historians.

Language: English.

Acquisition Information
This artificial collection was created by Special Collections and Archives staff from 1972 to 1994 to provide access to clippings taken from a variety of Orange County newspapers and magazines.

Processing History

Collection Scope and Content Summary
This artificial collection comprises photocopied newspaper and magazine clippings from Orange County newspapers and magazines from the early 1900s through the 1990s. Clippings are organized in three groupings: biographical information about notable people; information about city news and significant regional events; and topical items of regional interest, including business, labor, industry, city planning, real estate, construction, crime, recreation, book and newspaper publishing, native flora, fauna, archeological projects, and natural landmarks. Topical clippings also provide wide-ranging information on the diverse communities of Orange County and they include articles on regional history by ten prominent local historians.

The clippings were taken from a variety of local newspapers, including the Santa Ana Register, Los Angeles Times, Tustin News, and the Orange County Register. Others were taken from such publications as Westways and Orange County Magazine. Many clippings lack full citations to their newspaper or magazine sources.

Biographical files are arranged by the surname of the person described within each article. Cities and Towns files are arranged by the name of the city, town, or area. Topical files are arranged alphabetically by subject. Clippings are arranged chronologically whenever possible.

A partial index of individuals who are described in clippings follows the container list. This index was created by Special Collections and Archives staff from 1972 to 1994.

Indexing Terms
The following terms have been used to index the description of this collection in the library's online public access catalog.

Subjects
Cities and towns--California--Orange County--Archival resources.
Orange County (Calif.)--Archival resources.
Orange County (Calif.)--Biography--Archival resources.
Orange County (Calif.)--History--Archival resources.
Orange County (Calif.)--Social life and customs--Archival resources.

Partial index to clippings
The following is a partial index of individuals who are described in clippings. Following each individual's name is the name of the city or regional area with which they are associated, when applicable.

Unless otherwise noted in a “See” reference, these clippings are filed in Biographical. Clippings providing biographical information about prominent figures closely associated with a city or town, indicated by “See” references to a city or town, are filed in Cities and towns.

Clippings providing information that can be found in other files in addition to Biographical are indicated by “See also” cross references.
