Processing History
Historical Background
Throughout UCI’s history, countless campus clubs and organizations have supported the diverse beliefs, interests, and activities of UCI’s students, faculty, and staff. UCI does not sponsor or endorse any of their views or activities; all groups are established and governed independently. Some clubs and organizations are local chapters of national organizations or affiliated with other off-campus groups. In order to gain access to campus facilities and receive advising, materials for publicity, mailboxes, banking, and other services, groups must register with the Office of Student Affairs. Registered groups must comply with UCI’s “Principles of Community” and other policies. Unless a group specifies otherwise, membership in registered campus organizations is open to students, faculty, staff, and the general public, but only individuals directly affiliated with UCI may hold positions of authority or leadership. Some groups choose not to register and operate unofficially.
