Abstract: There is little biographical information available about Mort Fine. Morton Fine was born in 1916. He teamed with David Friedkin in the 1940s and together they collaborated on a number of successful radio, television and motion picture projects over the years. Among their radio projects are Bold Venture, Crime Classics, Broadway is My Beat, and Suspense. By the 1950s the team made the transition to motion pictures with credits that included Handle with Care and The Pawn Broker, among others. They eventually produced and developed the television series I Spy and The Most Deadly Game. Among the many other Mort Fine credits are the radio programs Adventures of Johnny Fletcher, Adventures of Sam Spade, and Escape; the television series Kojak, McCloud, and Streets of San Francisco; and the motion pictures The Greek Tycoon and Caboblanco. He was twice nominated for an Emmy Award for his work on I Spy, and won the Writers Guild Best Written Drama (with Friedkin) for The Pawnbroker (1966). Mort Fine died in 1991.
