Historical Note
The UCLA Center for International and Strategic Affairs (CISA) was originally known as the Center for Arms Control and International Security (ACIS). ACIS was established in 1975 under the direction of UCLA political science professor Roman Kolkowicz and with support of a three-year Ford Foundation grant. ACIS initially concentrated on issues of conventional arms control and security in the Middle East and Europe.
By 1978 the scope of ACIS was enhanced to include international politics and strategic policy. It was then renamed the Center for International and Strategic Affairs (CISA).

Scope and Content
Record Series 116 contains the publications of UCLA's Center for International and Strategic Affairs (CISA). Files include numbers 1-58; 60, 61, and 63 of the "ACIS Working Papers," a publication by CISA.
This is an inactive record series; no additional University records are expected to be added.
