Abstract: The Cecil Peterson collection on the Tuskegee Airmen is contained within the Tuskegee Airmen Archive. This archive consists of material related to those individuals who served at Tuskegee Army Air Field, and its predecessors, as well as material pertaining to Tuskegee Airmen, Inc., a non-profit organization.

This collection consists largely of research material collected by Cecil Peterson on the Tuskegee Airmen and the units with which they were affiliated. Material relating to Peterson's personal life is present, and to a lesser extent there is material regarding African Americans and Military History. Peterson compiled an extensive collection of material on the Tuskegee Airmen, the first African American pilots in the United States Army Air Corps. Information on personnel and military units associated with the training at Tuskegee Army Air Field and its predecessor training sites, race relations within the military, the Freeman Field Mutiny, the Tuskegee Airmen, Inc. and Peterson's personal and professional life are also included.

Languages: The collection is in English.

Acquisition Information

The Cecil Peterson collection on the Tuskegee Airmen was acquired as a gift in 2006.

Processing History

Processed by Chuck Wilson, 2010-2012.

Biographical Note

Cecil Peterson was orphaned at an early age and spent much of his boyhood in foster homes and institutions. His military experience included time as an enlisted man at Tuskegee Army Flying School in 1942 and 1943. He was in training and a part of base personnel before being shipped out for service on Guadalcanal. He re-entered the Army after World War II, was commissioned a Lieutenant and served in Korea.

During World War II, Eleanor Roosevelt requested the administrator of one of the institutions at which Cecil Peterson had resided to provide the name of someone in the service with whom she could correspond. This was the beginning of a long term relationship with the Roosevelt family.

After the war he completed his college work and had a career as a teacher. Peterson was active in local Los Angeles politics, notably Tom Bradley's initial election to the Los Angeles City Council. He served on the Los Angeles County Commission on Obscenity and Pornography and as a member of the California State Senior Legislature.
