Processing History
Processing of the Loda Mae Davis papers was completed by undergraduate students from the University of California, Riverside as part of the Special Collections & University Archives Backlog Processing Project started in 2015. This project was funded by the UCR Library and administered by Jessica Geiser, Collections Management Librarian.

Collection Scope and Contents
This collection includes correspondence, publications, fiction and non-fiction manuscripts, speech transcripts, photographs, videos, video logs, audio cassettes, and other material. Loda Mae Davis (1898-1989) was the first Dean of Women at the University of California, Riverside when it opened in 1954. Davis earned an undergraduate degree in commerce (1923) and a graduate degree in business (1932) at UC Berkeley. An economic analyst, consumer rights advocate, and world traveler, she worked for the WPA and other Federal entities during the Roosevelt administration, then for the UN Relief and Rehabilitation Administration following World War II. She also completed graduate work in psychology at University of California, Berkeley (UCB) prior to her appointment as Dean at UCR. Included are Davis' personal and professional papers and an oral history interview. The rest of the collection documents the life and work of female faculty members who made notable contributions to the UCR academic community. Each file includes an oral history interview, and supporting material

Collection Arrangement
The collection is separated into personal papers of Loda Mae Davis and Betty Clark Moore under series one and two. The next two series regard the Loda Mae Davis Women's Archive's creation and the Oral History Project that was to be apart of the archive. The last two series consist of Audio/Visual and Digital materials that were recorded for the Oral History Project. The collection is arranged into six series as follows:
1. Series 1. Loda Mae Davis personal papers, 1898-1998

Biographical / Historical
Loda Mae Davis (1898-1989) was born in Washington State to homesteaders in 1898. She graduated from UC Berkeley in 1923 and continued on to obtain a Master's of Science in Business in 1932. She continued to study at Berkeley as a graduate student in Psychology. During the Great Depression she traveled the world for several years before returning to the United States and joining the Works Project Administration. She spent well over a decade working for the US Government or as a consultant. Davis joined the new University of California, Riverside faculty in 1953 as the Dean of Women and also served as an Associate Dean of Students during her over ten years at UCR. She remained a part of the UCR community after her retirement, helping to found the Loda Mae Davis Archive and serve as a mentor to women in academia.

Series 4 Oral History Project 1962-2002

Series Scope and Contents
This series is based on the oral history project a part of the Loda Mae Davis's Oral History Project which began in 1987. Loda Mae Davis was interviewed. Two graduate students Ms. Jennifer Fisher and Jeff Friedman recorded women in academia associated with Loda Mae Davis and processed the collection until 1999. The materials in the series pertain to each individual that was interviewed, with subjects a part of the interview process separated out. Many of the women's information contains letters of agreement for the interview, response to questionnaires, draft and edited transcripts of the interviews, publications, and research on the women's background.

Most of the women who were interviewed also have a tape or floppy disk recording of their interview. These are located in boxes 11-14.
