Biographical Note
Noel Young was the founder of Santa Barbara-based Capra Press, a small independent publishing house best known for publishing short works by famous authors such as Henry Miller. Young was a commercial printer who had been designing and printing books for Black Sparrow Press and other independent presses when he launched his own company in 1969 by publishing "Journey," a slim volume of poetry by his friend Gordon Grant. Young died on May 31 at his home in Santa Barbara. (Excerpts from Los Angeles Times, "Obituaries; Noel Young 79; Founded Independent Capra Press": Home Edition July 4, 2002).

Scope and Content
Includes nine letters from publisher Noel Young to Henry Miller. A series of nine typed mainly single page letters mostly on Capra Press letterhead & club sized stationery from Noel Young, editor, to Henry Miller. Each letter signed in ink "Noel"-most letters with Miller's initialed notes for various instructions for filing or further action. The letters have much to do with the physical production of Miller's book GREECE published by Capra. There are two holograph notes on Capra note/memo sized stationery added. Nine items in total. From dealer's description.
