Biography/Administrative History
The Regional Oral History Office (ROHO), a division of The Bancroft Library, documents the history of California, the nation, and the interconnected global arena. ROHO produces carefully researched, audio/video-recorded and transcribed oral histories and interpretative historical materials for the widest possible use. Since its inception in 1954, ROHO has carried out interviews in a variety of major subject areas, which include: politics and government; law and jurisprudence; arts and letters; business and labor; social and community history; University of California history; natural resources and the environment; and science, medicine, and technology.

Scope and Content of Collection
Research materials collected in preparation for AIDS oral histories carried out at the Regional Oral History Office of UC Berkeley, include newspaper clippings, articles, conference material, research reports, correspondence, government documents, handouts, two notebooks on Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, and clippings and articles from Michael Helquist.
