Biographical Note
Stanton Arnold Glantz is a professor in the Department of Medicine, School of Medicine, at the University of California, San Francisco, and a well-known anti-tobacco activist and writer. In 1994, Glantz donated to the UCSF Tobacco Control Archives his research files based on copies of internal tobacco industry documents, which are known as the Brown & Williamson Collection. He is the co-author (with John Slade, Lisa A. Bero, Peter Hanauer, and Deborah E. Barnes) of The Cigarette Papers (Berkeley: University of California Press, c1996), and numerous articles based on the Brown & Williamson industry documents, as well as a series of reports on the tobacco industry and anti-tobacco activities around the country.

Glantz received a Ph.D. in Applied Mechanics/Engineering-Economic Systems from Stanford University in 1973 and stayed at Stanford as a Research Fellow in Cardiology. He came to UCSF in 1975 as a Research Fellow in Cardiovascular Research, eventually becoming an Assistant Professor in 1977 and a full Professor in 1987.

Glantz has served on the California State Tobacco Education Program Media Advisory Committee (1990-92). He was also a member of the California Scientific Review Panel on Toxic Air Contaminants (1986-96) and affiliated with the Statewide Air Pollution Resource Center (SAPRC) where he was concerned with the effects of ETS (Environmental Tobacco Smoke).

Scope and Content

This collection contains materials gathered by professor Stanton A. Glantz in the course of his anti-tobacco work. It is comprised primarily of drafts and copies of tobacco-related articles written or co-written by Glantz and video tapes of Glantz's television appearances. Included are drafts of the Journal of the American Medical Association articles based on his work with the Brown & Williamson Collection, and a video tape of a speech on the same topic that Glantz gave at Sarah Lawrence College in 1997. Also included are materials from his service with the Statewide Air Pollution Resource Center (SAPRC), and other tobacco-related videos and materials.

The collection is divided into two series: Papers and Videos. The Papers are arranged chronologically within alphabetical subject subdivisions. Videos are arranged in chronological order.

Box 1

SERIES 1: PAPERS, 1988-97, n.d.

Scope and Content Note

This series consists of all the written materials in the collection. It is divided into 3 major subsections arranged alphabetically: LAWSUITS, STATEWIDE AIR POLLUTION RESOURCE CENTER (SAPRC), and PUBLICATIONS. The material in Publications is further divided into miscellaneous articles, Brown & Williamson document articles, and reports. Materials are arranged chronologically within each section.

The Lawsuit subsection includes:

A lawsuit filed by the American Lung Association, American Cancer Association, and others against the State of California for diverting Prop. 99 designated funds away from anti-smoking educational programs.

A lawsuit by the proponents of Proposition 188 challenging wording of the opponents portion of the Prop. 188 ballot pamphlet.

The SAPRC documents consist primarily of correspondence, but also contains a draft of its 1992 Annual Report and a copy of a 1988 report issued by the SAPRC.

Glantz's Publications (1992-97, n.d.) include:

A variety of short articles

Drafts of five articles based on the Brown & Williamson Collection, co-authored by Glantz and five others, that appeared in JAMA (The Journal of the American Medical Association), v.274, n. 3, July 19, 1995

A series of reports on tobacco policy, legislation and lobbying from around the country

The final document in this series is a letter that accompanied the video tape of the Sarah Lawrence speech.

Scope and Content Note
This series includes all the videotapes from the collection. Most of these videos were taped directly from television broadcasts and are brief news clips, longer investigative pieces, or talk shows about tobacco issues that include or feature Glantz. One of the videotapes is a speech by Glantz to students at Sarah Lawrence College in New York State that details Glantz's involvement with tobacco issues, the appearance of the Brown & Williamson documents the writing of The Cigarette Papers, and examples of the Brown & Williamson documents.

Two or three of the videotapes were produced by the tobacco industry. One is a copy of "Philip Morris In Motion," a video magazine put out by the Philip Morris tobacco company that includes product and company information, cultural news, and a question and answer segment featuring Philip Morris employees and administration, including a question regarding the company's campaign contributions to Senator Jesse Helms. The other is an unidentified report showing how smoking bans hurt local businesses. The third item includes segments from a Philip Morris stock holders meeting during which a shareholders' resolution to voluntarily cut back on tobacco-related advertising is discussed.

All of the videotapes are standard VHS except for one which is 3/4 inch broadcast tape.
