Finding Aid for the Hamlin Garland papers 0200

Language of Material: English
Contributing Institution: USC Libraries Special Collections
Title: Hamlin Garland papers
creator: Garland, Hamlin, 1860-1940
Identifier/Call Number: 0200
Physical Description: 74.42 Linear Feet139 boxes
Date (inclusive): 1850-2018
Date (bulk): 1890-1940
Abstract: The Hamlin Garland papers consist of correspondence, manuscripts, notebooks, photographs, and memorabilia, by and about the American realist writer. Hamlin Garland (1860-1940) was a Pulitzer Prize-winning author who once held the title of "Dean of American Letters" and counted many of the prominent literary figures of his time as friends. This collection holds close to 10,000 of Garland's letters, which are now digitized and available via the USC Digital Library. Garland's literary notebooks and manuscripts--with the author's revisions--are also included, documenting the early working stages of Garland's autobiographies and memoirs, fiction, plays, poetry, published articles, and lectures. The Garland papers also contain the typescripts, notebooks, interview transcripts, correspondence, and research material created by Garland for his biography of Ulysses S. Grant published in 1898. Lastly, the collection holds hundreds of the Garland family's photographs and memorabilia dating as early as the 1850s.

Biographical note
Hamlin Garland (1860-1940) is best remembered by the title he gave to one of his autobiographies: as a "Son of the Middle Border." First receiving notice with a successful collection of grimly naturalistic "down home" stories in "Main-Travelled Roads" (1891), Garland came to prominence just as the "frontier" mentality was receding in the wake of the settling of California and the West. Garland, with roots in Wisconsin and the Upper Midwest, frequently wrote about how this area had also been borderland in his lifetime. In later years, Garland wrote extensively about American Indian affairs, land conservation, art, and literary trends; he also expanded his geographic range to include romances of the Far West, yet it was the reminiscences of his early years which stamped him in the public mind, and to which he turned repeatedly for inspiration.

Garland was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Letters in 1918, and won the 1922 Pulitzer Prize for Biography or Autobiography for his work, "A Daughter of the Middle Border." Following this honor, Garland acceded to the unofficial title of "Dean of American Letters." In 1929, Garland moved to Southern California, where he built a house on DeMille Drive in Hollywood. He lectured at USC in the mid-1930s; and his personal library along with some 8000 letters from fellow writers, publishers, and admirers came to USC after Garland's death, forming the cornerstone of the American Literature Collection.

Historical note
By the terms of his bequest, a large part of Hamlin Garland's library came to the University of Southern California in 1939-1940. The author died in March of 1940, and in November the University Library announced the acquisition by purchase of Garland's personal papers and correspondence. Although he had drawn quite close to USC during his final decade, receiving an honorary doctorate from the University in 1935, Garland long held out the idea of placing his papers with an institution in the East or Mid-West, geographically closer to the parts of the country he most closely identified with. He left final disposition of the archive to Mrs. Garland, however, who saw the merit of adding her husband's papers to the USC library's growing American Literature collection.

In the years immediately following 1940, much of the material that Garland had loaned for exhibition was retrieved by USC. His first scholarly biographer, Eldon C. Hill at the University of Miami (Ohio), also returned letters, books, and manuscripts, which Garland had placed at his disposal during the writing of Hill's dissertation. The Garland collection moved out of cartons and file cabinets after 1950, when Professor Bruce E. McElderry (English) assumed the task of describing and analyzing the entire archive. Concurrently, Lloyd Arvidson of the library staff, with particular responsibility for the American Literature holdings, was preparing his Bibliography of the Published Writings of Hamlin Garland; and it became his next goal to draw up the detailed checklist of the Garland collection, which the library published as a paper-bound octavo booklet in 1962.

Through the offices of Mark Rocha (Humboldt State University), an addendum to the Garland collection was acquired in 1988, consisting for the most part of family memorabilia (photographs, scrapbooks, and personal correspondence) belonging to Garland's wife, Zulime Taft Garland, and his daughters, Mary Isabel Garland Lord and Constance Garland Doyle. Donald Pizer of Tulane University also contributed supplementary material to the collection.

Scope and Content
The Hamlin Garland papers consist of nearly eight hundred manuscripts of Garland's writings, dozens of his literary notebooks, many hundreds of photographs and other memorabilia, and parts of Garland's personal library (cataloged separately from his papers). It also contains close to 10,000 letters, largely unpublished, including many letters from such correspondents as James M. Barrie, Joseph Conrad, Thomas Hardy, and A. A. Milne of England, and from Americans such as Walt Whitman, William Dean Howells, Stephen Crane, Gertrude Atherton, and Willa Cather. Lastly, this collection holds Garland family memorabilia belonging to Garland's wife, Zulime Taft Garland and his daughters, Mary Isabel Garland Lord and Constance Garland Doyle, along with supplementary material added to the collection by USC librarians and researchers through their processing and use of the Hamlin Garland papers.

Collection highlights include sheets of then-fashionable spirit-writing; transcripts of séances in which Garland participated; a handwritten translation of Salvatore Farina's play "Il Signor Io" made by Garland's close friend, Henry Blake Fuller; and a 100-page fragmentary dramatization of William Dean Howells' novel, "A Hazard of New Fortunes"--later published by New York University Press in "The Complete Plays of W. D. Howells".

Artifacts in the collection trace the story of Garland's life, starting with the well-worn slate he carried to school as a small boy in Wisconsin and Iowa in the 1870s, pictures and autographs of schoolmates, and the 1881 graduation program of the Cedar Valley Seminary of Osage, Iowa (where Garland debated the question, "Should the Negro exodus be encouraged?"). Other items include the ledger-type notebooks in which Garland transcribed passages from Thomas Paine, notes from his time of intensive study in the Boston Public Library, and clippings of his first writings and announcements of lectures accompanied by the manuscripts of the lectures themselves.

Programs and announcements in the collection document Garland's leading role in founding an independent, naturalistic theater in 1891-1892 with James A. Herne, while further notebooks record his interviews with Civil War veterans during the preparations of his biography, "Ulysses S. Grant: His Life and Character". Itineraries and speech outlines tell of his campaign on behalf of Henry George and the Single Tax movement. Book contracts and manuscripts indicate Garland's rise as a leading author in American literature.

The Hamlin Garland papers also hold the manuscript of Garland's last, unpublished memoir documenting his California years, "The Fortunate Exiles", and a copy of the 1940 Venice High School yearbook, "Argonaut", with its posthumous tribute to Garland, who had died that spring.

[Adapted from notes by Lloyd Arvidson, from "Library Staff Bulletin" (March 15, 1960)].

Thanks to generous support from the National Historical Publications & Records Commission, the USC Libraries digitized Garland's collection of correspondence for online public access. Digital surrogates of all of Garland's letters can be found via the USC Digital Library.

Arrangement

The Hamlin Garland papers are organized into 13 series; each series corresponds generally to a format or a broad subject area. Within each series, items are generally arranged alphabetically by title or subject (when appropriate). Occasionally, as for the Garland notebooks, a chronological arrangement is used. This arrangement was created for the original checklist of the collection and has been maintained during subsequent processing efforts.

Access

Advance notice required for access.

Publication Rights

All requests for permission to publish or quote from manuscripts must be submitted in writing to the Manuscripts Librarian. Permission for publication is given on behalf of Special Collections as the owner of the physical materials and is not intended to include or imply permission of the copyright holder, which must also be obtained.

Preferred Citation

[Box/folder no. or item name], Hamlin Garland papers, Collection no. 0200, Special Collections, USC Libraries, University of Southern California

Immediate Source of Acquisition

The collection was received initially from Mrs. Hamlin Garland; subsequent materials were purchased from Mrs. Garland shortly after the donation. Additional materials were purchased in 1988 and donated in 2016.

Processing Information

This finding aid is largely based on the "checklist" -- or collection inventory -- originally completed for "Hamlin Garland: Centennial Tributes and a Checklist of the Hamlin Garland Papers" by Lloyd A. Arvidson -- published as an issue of "The Library Bulletin" no. 9 (1962). Arvidson's checklist describes Garland's papers on an item level with a unique number associated with each item. These item numbers are referenced as "Hamlin Garland checklist no. [#]" within this updated finding aid.
In 1999, the USC Libraries produced an electronic version of the checklist, and in 2012, the electronic version was modified to produce a finding aid. In 2017-2018, Special Collections archivist Bo Doub re-processed the Hamlin Garland papers, updating the finding aid with any changes and accruals to the original collection.

Box 66, Folder 2  The Pasadena Tournament of Roses, New Year's Day, 1893 1956, 1999

Scope and Contents
This folder contains a 1956 publication from the Book Club of California, published as part of its "Treasures of California Collections" series. In 1956, Lloyd A. Arvidson, Curator of the American Literature Collection at USC, submitted parts of Garland's journals as a "treasure" to be included in The Book Club's "Treasures of California Collections" series. Included in this folder are Arvidson's notes and drafts for his submission to the series, copies of the Book Club of California's 1956 publication of this content in its final published form, and a 1999 letter from the Book Club of California describing and enclosing copies of the publication for use by USC's libraries.

Related Materials
The original Garland journals that Arvidson uses in his submission for the "Treasures of California Collections" series can be found under the following two records in this collection:
1. "Los Angeles, Fresno, Portland, Pasadena" - impressions of the Pacific Coast and notes on a seance, 1892-1893
2. "San Juan, Pasadena, New Mexico again, Denver, Kansas City, Boston" - travel notes and impressions; sketches and notes for stories; poem; outline of address to Psychic Society, 1892-1893

Processing Information
This material was not documented in Arvidson's original checklist for the Hamlin Garland collection, but it was found in the same box as the original journals that the material references.

Scope and Contents

This book mostly contains letters mounted on pages, assembled by A. Gaylord Beaman for Garland's seventy-third birthday. The letters are addressed to Beaman from various sources. Most of the letters were separated from the book and stored (and cataloged) with the larger "Correspondence" series. The person who separated the letters wrote the name of each letter's author on the page where the letter was originally mounted. Following is a list of contributors whose letters are still mounted in the book. Authors' names that are not fully legible in this book are not included in the list.

Scope and Contents note

In the Hamlin Garland papers are more than 8,500 letters written to Hamlin Garland by almost 3,000 correspondents. There are also almost 1,700 letters written by Mr. Garland to some 650 correspondents. Of these latter, most are Garland's drafts are carbon copies, only about 350 being originals. Scholars will be especially interested in the collections of letters from Garland's many literary friends, especially those of major figures who were his intimates, such as James M. Barrie, Henry Blake Fuller, William Dean Howells, Henry James, and Theodore Roosevelt.

Some letters found in the correspondence files of the Garland papers were exchanged between two persons other than Garland. These are listed, and both correspondents are named in each records' title or scope and contents field. Whenever "Garland" is used without a first name, the description is referring to Hamlin Garland.

Many of the letters to Garland are addressed to "S. S. McClure" because Garland was a frequent contributor to McClure's Magazine and was sometimes reached via the magazine's offices.

General

Thanks to generous support from the National Historical Publications & Records Commission, the USC Libraries digitized Garland's collection of correspondence for online public access. Digital surrogates of all of Garland's letters can be found via the USC Digital Library.

This material is not listed in Arvidson's Hamlin Garland checklist.
Scope and Contents
This material was found in a folder labeled "Unrecorded letters of HG." Contains copies of letters, and one original, written by Hamlin Garland to various recipients. USC does not hold the originals for most of these copies. For instance, one letter has a note attached: "Attached is a copy of a letter written by Hamlin Garland and sent to the Osage public library. The original letter is framed and hangs in the library for viewing." Also includes copies of Garland's letters to Elizabeth Lippincott McQueen (here addressed as Mrs. Ulysses Grant McQueen) and an article by McQueen titled "Happy Contacts," published in a 1933 edition of Speed. The only original in this folder is a letter sent from Garland to Captain William M. Kerr. Some of these letters are accompanied by later correspondence (2001-2004) with USC librarian John Ahouse documenting historical contexts of Garland's letters and the sources for some of these copies. |

Hamlin Garland: Centennial Tributes and a Checklist of the Hamlin Garland Papers 1962

General

Hamlin Garland: Centennial Tributes and a Checklist of the Hamlin Garland Papers was created by Lloyd A. Arvidson, who was a part of the USC Libraries staff during the initial processing of Garland's papers. Arvidson compiled this detailed checklist of the Garland collection after the completion of his master's thesis, "A Bibliography of the Published Writings of Hamlin Garland." The USC Libraries then published the checklist as a paper-bound octavo booklet for the 1962 issue of The Library Bulletin (no. 9).

General

None of the material described in this subseries is listed in Arvidson's Hamlin Garland checklist. However, during prior work on Garland's papers, this material was physically arranged and labeled at the box-level as part of the subseries, "Bibliographies" (under the "Personal Records" series). There is a brief note on this material listed in "Garland Collection Supplements."
